

Gagan Pathak: Young Journalist & Media Entrepreneur Launches 'The RANK ONE Company' — Giving India's Youth a Voice

youth and address the lack of job opportunities in media, Gagan Pathak, a young journalist and entrepreneur, has launched his own Hindi news platform, The RANK ONE Company.

At just 18, Gagan is part of India's growing wave of youth entrepreneurs who are creating opportunities for themselves and others, instead of waiting for traditional jobs. His platform covers trending news in India, crime stories, celebrity news, governance, youth issues, and untold real-life stories — all with a fearless and fact-based approach.

"I started The RANK ONE Company because I saw how hard it was for young journalists and creators to find meaningful work," said Gagan Pathak. "Instead of waiting for someone to hire me, I decided to build a platform that amplifies voices, exposes real issues, and inspires others to take charge of their own journeys."

From NDTV to Founding a Startup

Gagan first gained attention when he appeared on a NDTV panel discussion with Rujuta Diwekar, questioning India's rising health concerns, poor food habits, and harmful myths across India. His insightful questions and fearless commentary earned him recognition and sparked conversations across Indian television and YouTube.

Building on that experience, he founded The RANK ONE Company to take his mission further — making news accessible, relevant, and authentic, while inspiring young Indians to embrace entrepreneurship.

Why The RANK ONE Company Matters

At a time when India's startup ecosystem is booming and millions of educated youth remain unemployed, Gagan believes in challenging the status quo.

"The youth of India are no longer satisfied with waiting. We want to innovate, build, and lead. The RANK ONE Company is my contribution to this movement — proof that anyone can create their own path," he adds.

Gagan is quickly emerging as a leading face of young media entrepreneurs in India, blending journalism, digital storytelling, and entrepreneurial vision.
