New Label Aims to Redefine Asian Electronic Music on the Global Stage

Chengdu, Sichuan Jul 27, 2025 (IssueWire.com) - Internationally acclaimed Chinese DJ and producer HINA officially launches his independent label, Hotpot Records, with the debut release of the groovy, high energy single “Take A Sip.” With previous releases on major labels like Spinnin’ Records, Hexagon, Armada, and Smash The House, and collaborations with icons such as Snoop Dogg, HINA now embarks on a new journey this time as a label founder.

Hotpot Records is more than just a platform it’s a cultural mission. Based in Chengdu and helmed by HINA, the label is dedicated to showcasing Asian electronic music talent and promoting cross-border collaborations that push sonic boundaries. The goal? To build a global stage for a new wave of artists who are culturally distinct, genre-fluid, and creatively fearless.

“Take A Sip,” the label’s inaugural release, is a vibrant house track inspired by a real-life party moment involving a traditional Chinese teapot turned communal shot glass. The result is a bouncy, playful groove that perfectly embodies the laid-back yet electrifying energy Hotpot Records intends to champion. It’s a lighthearted, dancefloor-ready anthem and a musical toast to what lies ahead

“Hotpot Records is about turning up the heat on how Asian electronic music is experienced worldwide,” says HINA. “We’re building something that brings people together from Chengdu to Berlin, Seoul to São Paulo.”

Backed by HINA’s international reach and a growing network of collaborators, Hotpot Records is already working on a string of future releases featuring both global talent and rising Asian stars.

As electronic music continues to evolve, Hotpot Records is positioned to be a key tastemaker in a rapidly diversifying landscape bridging cultures and dropping beats that resonate from underground clubs to main festival stages.
