Electronic Garage Doors in London were once a luxury afforded only by very wealthy homeowners and business owners, but thankfully that's no longer the case!

J. K SECURITY DOORS

Rickmansworth, Hertfordshire Jan 27, 2026 (Issuewire.com) - Electronic Garage Doors in London were once a luxury afforded only by very wealthy homeowners and business owners, but thankfully that's no longer the case!

J.K Security Doors in London supply and install affordable, electronic garage doors in London which are not only beautiful to look at but are also highly secure and increase the quality of life of homeowners who choose to install them.

The RollMatic Affordable Electronic Garage Doors in London from Hörmann

J.K Security Doors proudly introduces the Hörmann RollMatic garage door - A premium-quality, highly insulated roller garage doors. The space-saving design features foam-filled horizontal slats for enhanced durability, insulation, and a smooth, modern finish.

Available in a range of very stylish colours, including realistic Decograin timber-effect, the RollMatic range allows you to enhance the appearance of your property without having to spend very much money.

Designed for garages that have limited internal and driveway space, RollMatic doors roll up vertically, freeing up room both inside and in front of your garage door. They operate with Hörmann's low-voltage 24V DC motor, ensuring smooth performance and enhanced energy efficiency.

Key features include:

- Automatic safety cut-off with obstacle detection
- Soft start and stop for quiet operation
- Integrated LED-lit control panel
- Manual emergency release with pull cord
- Multiple colour and size options (up to 5000mm wide x 3000mm high)
- Hörmann RollMatic presents a practical, stylish security solution for homes in London.
