

Karen Fadem-Rose Strengthens Community Health Services in Rego Park, NY

Dedicated public health nurse enhances accessibility and preventive care with compassionate community outreach

New York City, New York Jul 9, 2025 (Issuewire.com) - Rego Park Community Health Initiative proudly introduces Karen Fadem Rose, RN, PHN, a seasoned public health nurse committed to promoting health equity and welfare in Rego Park and surrounding Queens neighborhoods. With extensive experience in community-focused nursing and a passion for preventive care, Karen delivers vital services aimed at improving public health outcomes and fostering wellness across diverse populations.

Karen holds a Registered Nurse license and is certified as a Public Health Nurse. With a profound understanding of community health dynamics, she specializes in infectious disease prevention, maternal-child wellness, chronic disease education, vaccination programs, and health screenings. Her culturally sensitive and holistic approach ensures that all residents—regardless of background—have access to compassionate interventions.

At Rego Park Community Health Initiative, Karen is recognized for her empathetic communication, strong advocacy skills, and commitment to health literacy. She conducts home visits, organizes health fairs, and collaborates with schools, senior centers, and local nonprofits to identify and address community health needs. Her patient-first focus helps empower individuals and families with the knowledge and resources needed for healthier lives.

Karen is also actively involved in community education. She leads workshops and seminars on topics including nutrition, immunizations, maternal health, and chronic disease self-management. By emphasizing prevention and early intervention, she works to minimize health disparities and support long-term community well-being.

Looking ahead, Karen plans to expand neighborhood outreach through mobile health clinics, launch telehealth follow-ups for underserved families, and partner with city health departments to improve vaccination and screening access. Her vision reinforces Rego Park Community Health Initiative's mission to ensure accessible, equitable, and preventative care for everyone in the community.
