Fusing Data with Ecology

Origin champions an eco-conscious approach, leveraging technology and biological insights rather than relying on traditional chemical treatment. As the first globally ISO 14001-certified pest control organization in 2000, Origin integrates data-driven solutions like RATSENSE® for real-time rodent tracking and the bespoke 3+1 Mosquito Management programme—a comprehensive system combining inspection, trapping, biological misting, and software-led monitoring.

Decades of Sustainable Expertise

With over 50 years of experience, Origin has consistently advanced its methodologies: introducing termite baiting systems (2002), bed-bug detection dogs (2007), IoT-connected trap sensors (2014), and fleet electrification (2022). This legacy underpins its vision of safeguarding urban environments while preserving ecological balance.

Comprehensive, Tailored Services

Origin delivers a wide range of specialized solutions—covering ants, bed bugs, rodents, termites, snakes, mosquitoes, and birds—serving residential, commercial, and industrial sectors. Their pest-control services are not only effective but also adopt a preventive ethos, aimed at addressing root causes and implementing environment-friendly interventions.

Commitment to Community and Sustainability

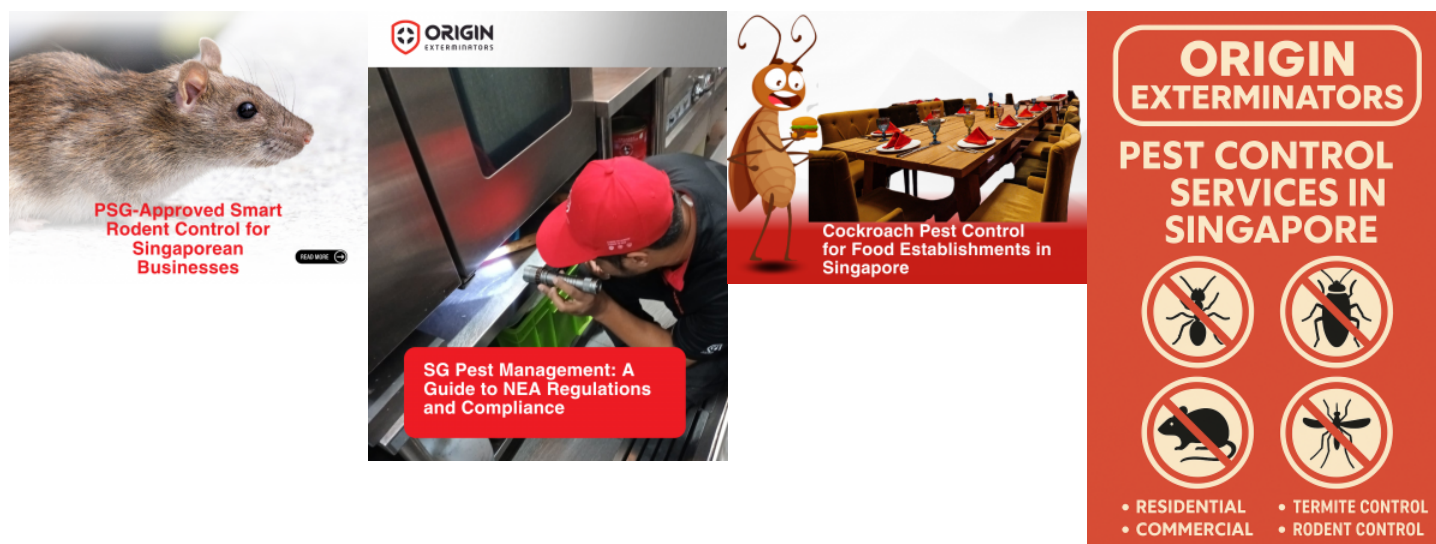

Origin's mission prioritizes healthier environments for Singaporean homes and businesses. They position pest control as a proactive, science-backed service, reflected in their core values: innovation, sustainability, and customer-centricity.

Client Trust and Impact

Priced highly by clients for their reliability and professionalism, Origin maintains a 4.7-star rating from 70+ reviews on Google. Residential and institutional clients frequently commend the team for prompt and educational service delivery.
