

Prepare Your Floors for yhe Back-to-School Season with Nadine Floor Company

Plano's trusted flooring experts help families create safe, stylish, and school-ready homes this season.

Plano, Texas Jul 25, 2025 (Issuewire.com) - – As summer winds down and families prepare for the hustle and bustle of a new school year, Nadine Floor Company is helping homeowners across the Dallas-Fort Worth area get their homes ready with durable, stylish, and family-friendly flooring options. Whether you're looking to upgrade worn-out carpet, replace old vinyl, or finally start that long-awaited flooring project, there's no better time than now.

Known throughout Plano and surrounding areas for their commitment to craftsmanship and service, Nadine Floor Company offers an unmatched selection of high-quality flooring products, including hardwood, luxury vinyl plank (LVP), tile, laminate, and carpet. As parents get their kids ready for the classroom, Nadine is focused on making sure the home environment is equally ready—safe, clean, and inviting.

Family-Friendly Floors for Busy Households

The back-to-school season is a time of transition. Shoes track in dirt, backpacks hit the floor, and family schedules get a lot more hectic. That's why Nadine Floor Company emphasizes materials and installations that work hard and look great.

"Floors take a beating during the school year," says a Nadine Floor Company spokesperson. "We work with families to install floors that are scratch-resistant, easy to clean, and built to last through everything from school projects to muddy sports practices."

Popular choices this season include:

- Luxury Vinyl Plank (LVP)—Waterproof and scratch-resistant, ideal for active households
- Tile Flooring—Great for kitchens, bathrooms, and high-traffic areas
- Engineered Hardwood—A beautiful and durable upgrade for long-term value
- Stain-Resistant Carpet – Soft underfoot with modern technology to resist messes

Flooring Installations with a Local Touch

With decades of experience serving Plano and the broader DFW region, Nadine Floor Company has earned a reputation as a trusted partner in home improvement. Their licensed and insured team provides full-service flooring installation, design consultations, and recommendations based on your home's unique needs.

Customers praise the company's attention to detail, clear communication, and commitment to staying on schedule and budget. The team understands that flooring is more than a cosmetic change—it's a foundation for how families live every day.

And with back-to-school approaching quickly, the company is streamlining its process to meet project deadlines. From initial consultation to final walk-through, homeowners can expect a seamless experience.

Seasonal Promotions for Back-to-School Upgrades

To make summer's end even sweeter, Nadine Floor Company is offering limited-time promotions on select flooring materials and services through the end of August. Families looking to complete projects before the school year starts can take advantage of competitive pricing and flexible scheduling.

“If you’ve been putting off that flooring project all summer, now’s the perfect time,” adds the company representative. “We still have openings available, and our seasonal discounts make it easier than ever to upgrade before the fall.”

Designed with Families in Mind

As part of their back-to-school campaign, Nadine Floor Company is also offering free design consultations to help parents and homeowners choose flooring that suits both lifestyle and budget. Whether it’s a cozy carpet for a study nook or waterproof LVP for the kitchen, the team works with clients one-on-one to find the best solution.

Homeowners can visit the Nadine showroom in Plano to explore flooring samples in person or schedule an in-home consultation for personalized service. The company’s experienced designers and project managers make recommendations tailored to household needs—including pets, allergies, foot traffic, and maintenance preferences.

Flooring That Goes Beyond Appearance

While flooring upgrades improve the look of a home, Nadine Floor Company knows that real value comes from durability and comfort. High-quality flooring can enhance property value, improve energy efficiency, and reduce cleaning time—a significant benefit for busy families.

“Flooring is one of the most important investments you can make in your home,” says the spokesperson. “It affects your daily life, your home’s value, and even how your kids interact with their environment. We’re proud to help families make smart choices that will serve them for years.”
