Bacau, Romania Jul 22, 2025 (IssueWire.com) - REMEMBER REMY: AMERICA'S MOST ATTRACTIVE NEW EXPORT DROPS GLOBAL VISUAL FOR CHARTING SINGLE "LOWKEY"

Remy Lewbel, the effortlessly magnetic American artist building a name across continents, has officially released the music video for the charting single "Lowkey," featuring RYAA—a breakout artist signed to Global Records.

Filmed between Bucharest, Romania and Mykonos, Greece, the visual captures the slow implosion of a lowkey toxic relationship—where beauty masks distance, and silence says more than words ever could. The music video is drenched in cinematic pacing, sun-drenched escapism, and emotional tension that lingers long after the final shot.

“It’s not about yelling,” Remy says. “It’s about the space between us—how something beautiful can still feel broken. I’ve lived this story. And I needed the visuals to feel as quiet and painful as the relationship itself.”

“Lowkey” quietly climbed the international charts earlier this year, fueled by Remy’s genre-blurring style, trilingual lyricism, and an undeniable presence—equal parts seductive and introspective. RYAA’s feature adds an ethereal softness to the track, enhancing the emotional weight of the song’s narrative.

The single debuted live during a headline performance at the W Hotel in Koh Samui, Thailand, complete with dancers, a custom visual experience, and a sold-out international crowd. That show ignited global buzz and marked the beginning of a bold new chapter for both artists.

Now, with the video officially released, Remy is preparing for a multi-country tour spanning Europe, North Africa, and beyond—fueled by a growing fanbase that sees themselves in both his emotional vulnerability and magnetic presence.
