Rev. Dr. Christina Clement Named Radio Host on 1010 AM “The King” — Expands Global Justice Platform, including iHeartRadio and Acast

The voice of justice just got louder.

Rev. Dr. Christina Clement — spiritual leader, legal strategist, and founder of the State of Loc Nation Global Public Benefit Corporation — has been named an official host on 1010 AM “The King”, one of Atlanta’s most respected Black-owned radio stations. Her new program, “The Rev Dr Christina Clement’s Restitution,” will air weekly, merging law, faith, and liberation economics in a way rarely heard on public airwaves.

Already syndicated globally through iHeartRadio and other platforms, Dr. Clement’s growing media presence expands her mission to bring visibility, education, and legal action to the centuries-old Black, Afro, Indigenous and local nationites grievance — now reframed through her leadership as a call for restitution, not reparations.

“This isn’t just a show — it’s a sovereign classroom. A platform for our people to get the truth, the tools, and the justice we require,” said Dr. Clement. “Restitution is not a favor. It’s a right. And we will educate and activate through every mic and court available.”

A Show Rooted in Power

“The Rev Dr Christina Clement’s Restitution” will feature:

- Legal education on redlining, HR 40/S.40 amendments and land recovery
- Faith-based insights on liberation, legacy, and sovereignty
- Community interviews and intergenerational dialogues
- Global updates from the State of Loc Nation GPBC and its legal filings

Listeners can tune in live via 1010 AM & 105.5 FM in Atlanta, or stream online 24/7 at www.1010theking.com.

A Movement That’s Global

As the president of a federally and internationally filed entity, Dr. Clement’s legal and spiritual authority extends beyond broadcasting. With ongoing federal court cases, UCC-registered assets, and a declared sovereign platform, she’s transforming conversations into court actions — and media into public policy.

Episodes of The Rev Dr Christina Clement’s Restitution will also be distributed via:
