New York City, New York Aug 4, 2025 (Issuewire.com) - Kpop Influencer and global popstar LORD PAPA has won the JUSTIN BIEBER BABY LOOKALIKE CONTEST held by TEENSWEATS Magazine, in Tokyo, Japan.

PAPA was the most voted candidate on the magazine's website, and along with the trophy, he will also receive a cheque of $2 thousand dollars and $10k thousand dollars credit in hair products from LUCCHI GLOBAL.

He was amongst the forty teenagers from all over the globe who submitted their pictures to participate in the contest.

KPOP influencer and Justin Bieber lookalike LORD PAPA has just released the new viral TikTok hit: “EVIL TWIN” (also known as “EVIL TWINK”), along with its Korean and Japanese versions.

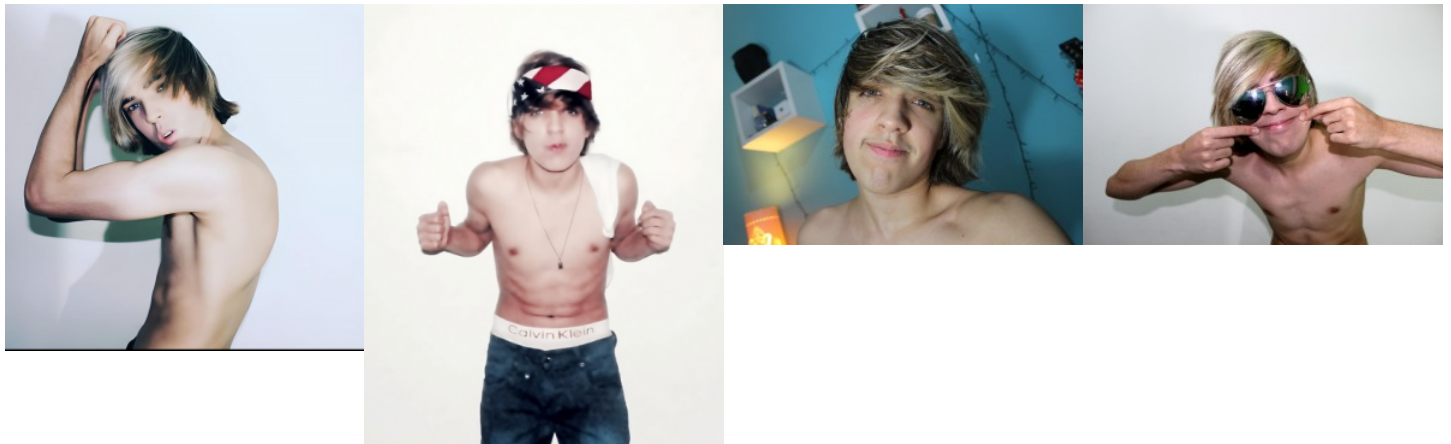

The song and its variations have become a true sensation on TikTok and Twitter, especially among Gen Z and millennial users who have fun lip-syncing to the lyrics while playfully showing affection for their best friends.

The single marks LORD PAPA’s bet on a career as a pop star, following his fame from a Justin Bieber lookalike contest.

“I originally wrote ‘Evil Twin’ in Korean. It was a Korean punk-pop track about feeling jealous seeing my ex with someone else. The original lyrics even had real names in them—it was SO EMBARRASSING to read back later, lol. I never took it seriously because it was too punk for KPOP and too KPOP for America. But after showing it to some people on my team, everyone thought it was hilarious and told me to release it. The Korean version was super native and niche for the Korean market, so I shelved it because I couldn’t write an English version that made sense. Then months later, I came up with the idea of ‘EVIL TWINK’ and built out the whole character and storyline. That same night, the entire song came to me, and deep down I knew I had made something special. Fun, light. The way pop music is supposed to be,” said PAPA.

The song is now available on streaming platforms and on his YouTube channel. A music video is currently in production.
