

Vacant Homes in Lakeville, Burnsville, and Jordan Are Becoming a Burden for Minnesota Sellers

As unsold properties sit empty, more owners are turning to fast cash buyers to avoid vandalism, theft, and rising costs

Minneapolis, Minnesota Aug 10, 2025 (Issuewire.com) - Across Scott and Dakota Counties, vacant homes are becoming a silent crisis. In cities like Lakeville, Burnsville, and Jordan, property owners are struggling to maintain empty houses that won't sell—or can't sell—on the open market.

Whether inherited, stuck mid-renovation, or abandoned after a failed sale, these homes are attracting code violations, break-ins, and mounting costs. That's why more sellers are calling Sell House Fast MN to offload vacant properties quickly and without hassle.

"Vacant houses become a liability fast," said a spokesperson for Sell House Fast MN. "You're paying for insurance, utilities, lawn care, and property taxes—and on top of that, you're exposed to vandalism, water leaks, and squatters. Most sellers don't realize how expensive it is to hold on to an empty home."

Why Vacant Homes Are Sitting Longer in 2025

With mortgage rates still above 7% and buyers growing more cautious, even well-maintained listings are taking longer to sell. For vacant homes with cosmetic or structural issues, the wait can stretch into months—especially in Burnsville and Jordan, where fewer buyers are willing to take on fixer-uppers.

“We buy houses Lakeville that have been vacant for 6 months or longer,” said the company rep. “Sellers are tired of mowing the lawn, checking in weekly, and dealing with city notices. They want out.”

Top Reasons Vacant Homes Become a Problem:

- Inherited properties after probate
- Failed flips or unfinished renovations
- Long-distance owners or out-of-state heirs
- Vacant rental properties after eviction
- Homes listed too high and now stale on the market
