BIJAL makes a bold transformation from hip-hop DJ to EDM innovator with the release of his electrifying new single “Summer Glow.”

New York City, New York Sep 6, 2025 (Issuewire.com) - The evolution of an artist is always a story worth telling, and BIJAL is writing his next chapter with fire. Formerly known as DJ Bijal, the hip-hop DJ and producer who once dominated the airwaves on SiriusXM Hip Hop Nation, is dropping the “DJ” and stepping into a whole new arena with a redefined name, sound, and vision. His latest single, “Summer Glow,” ignites the EDM scene with an irresistible deep house vibe that signals a fresh creative era filled with energy, rhythm, and global appeal.

From remixing Canadian artist Deesha’s “Do You Remember” with an experimental edge to producing “Ghost” for Sumeet’s Deeper album, BIJAL has always thrived at the intersection of innovation and genre-bending. His fearless approach to music extended to his acclaimed radio presence, with Everywhere Radio airing on AOL Radio, Desi Hits, and other major platforms, where he showcased his knack for blending sounds and pushing boundaries across cultures.

With “Summer Glow”, BIJAL is more than reinventing himself, he’s planting a flag in the new territory. This single is the first of many, as he gears up to deliver a bold wave of genre-crossing releases in 2025 and 2026. Fans can expect “Like Superman,” a future bass anthem, offering a glimpse into the wide creative spectrum BIJAL is ready to unleash.

"This is more than a rebrand, it's about breaking limits and creating a sound that feels alive, global, and future-ready," BIJAL says. “Summer Glow is just the beginning of something much bigger.”

With a career rooted in pushing the envelope, BIJAL's move into EDM is a natural progression of his artistry.
