

Cledemy Launches Innovative Learning Platform to Transform Education for Kids Worldwide

Ahmedabad, Gujarat Sep 3, 2025 (IssueWire.com) - Cledemy, an emerging EdTech startup founded by entrepreneur Rahul Panchal, has officially launched with a mission to make learning engaging, skill-focused, and accessible for children from preschool to early teens. The platform offers a comprehensive library of worksheets, flashcards, interactive activities, audiobooks, projects, and more, designed to nurture both academic growth and life skills.

Cledemy bridges the gap between traditional learning and modern educational needs by organizing resources across subjects, skills, hobbies, and even career aspirations. From building core academic foundations in Math, Science, and English to strengthening cognitive, motor, social-emotional, and creative skills, Cledemy ensures children receive a 360-degree learning experience.

“Education today is not just about grades — it’s about developing curiosity, creativity, and confidence in children,” said Rahul Panchal, Founder of Cledemy. “With Cledemy, we’re creating a resource hub where parents, teachers, and schools can find tools that help kids prepare not only for exams but also for life.”

The platform also features daily challenges like “Riddle of the Day,” “Question of the Day,” and “Photo of the Day,” making learning fun and habit-forming. For long-term growth, Cledemy provides progress tracking and performance analysis, helping parents and educators understand each child’s strengths and areas of improvement.

Looking ahead, Cledemy plans to expand its content into career-based resources, guiding children who dream of becoming doctors, astronauts, engineers, and more — providing them with structured learning paths right from preschool to their teenage years.
