EXUGLOBAL continues to expand its global market CEO Ruben Postma is interviewed by GlobalNews

Stamford, US Oct 4, 2025 (Issuewire.com) - GlobalNews: Dear audience friends, today we are very honored to have the opportunity to interview the CEO of EXUGLOBAL Mr. Ruben Postma.

Welcome, Mr. Ruben Postma!

Ruben Postma: Thank you for the invitation from GlobalNews. I am very happy to share with you the mission and vision of EXUGLOBAL.

GlobalNews: So, let's get started. As the CEO of EXUGLOBAL, can you share your company's mission and your perspectives on AI and blockchain?

Ruben Postma: Our mission is to build an efficient, secure, and transparent digital asset infrastructure based on artificial intelligence and blockchain. We believe that distributed ledgers and smart contracts can restore trust in finance. Furthermore, our top-tier signal trading team comprises dozens of experienced financial analysts. We leverage AI computing power to collect and compare global big data in real time, combining this with extensive investment experience to predict trends.

GlobalNews: What is your vision for the company? What kind of impact or change do you hope to achieve through EXUGLOBAL in the future?

Ruben Postma: Our vision is to become an industry leader, a world-leading intelligent financial platform, and to promote the implementation of AI and blockchain in a wider range of fields: from education and charity, to accessible medical care, green energy, to aerospace, AI robots and biotechnology and other cutting-edge directions, to create long-term social and industrial positive value.

GlobalNews: What are EXUGLOBAL 's unique advantages in artificial intelligence, blockchain, and finance? How do these advantages influence the company's development and user experience?

Ruben Postma:

Technology Stack: Supports over 200 assets, covers over 30 mainstream public chains, boasts a proprietary matching peak of 1.5 million transactions per second, and an average latency of approximately 5 milliseconds, maintaining stable liquidity and continuous quotes even in extreme market conditions.

Quantitative capabilities: We work closely with the team of top analyst Nick Core, with dozens of analysts and AI computing power. Our strategies, proven through long-term real-time trading, have an overall winning rate of over 80%.

Global compliance: Adhere to FATF, OFAC, MiCA, MSB and other frameworks and promote multiregional licenses, improve KYC/AML and market supervision systems.

GlobalNews: Regarding your technical team, how do they contribute to the company's innovation and growth? How do you think their expertise provides the company with a competitive advantage?

Ruben Postma: Our technical team comes from leading institutions and universities in the industry and possesses extensive experience and expertise. Their technical background and innovative thinking have brought advanced AI algorithms, blockchain smart chips, and other leading technologies to the company, providing significant support for its development.

GlobalNews: You've outlined a series of goals and plans for future development. Which of these do you consider most challenging? How can you ensure the company's success in meeting these challenges?

Ruben Postma: The most challenging aspects of our future plans include expanding into different markets around the world, collaborating with financial institutions, and advancing the application of artificial intelligence technology in the blockchain field. To ensure success, we will continue to innovate technology, strengthen team collaboration, closely monitor market trends, and flexibly adjust our strategy.

GlobalNews: Besides digital asset services and signal trading, does EXUGLOBAL plan to expand into other areas? For example, you just mentioned the social impact of the real economy.

Ruben Postma: Yes, we have plans to expand into other sectors. We hope to leverage AI technology to achieve greater social impact in education, philanthropy, healthcare, and the environment. We will continue to apply AI to educational philanthropy and elderly care support, and explore AI-enabled accessible healthcare, green energy optimization, and research in aerospace and biotechnology. Balancing both commercial and social value will be a key strategy for our future.

GlobalNews: Very good, that will be of great help to the development of the industry. Mr. Ruben Postma, can you tell us the current number of EXUGLOBAL users and whether the growth rate is in line with expectations?

Ruben Postma: Yes, now the number of EXUGLOBAL users has exceeded 500,000, a year-on-year increase of 37.5%. In fact, what we value more now is user retention, profit experience and market satisfaction, which are our new goals.

GlobalNews: At different stages of a company's development, how would you describe where it is now, and could you talk about its strategic plans for future development?

Ruben Postma: We are currently experiencing rapid growth and are committed to expanding our user base and service offerings. Our future development plans encompass technological innovation, global expansion, and partnerships with financial institutions. Specific plans include the completion of a $40 million Series A funding round, which will be used to attract top talent, accelerate AI algorithm and product development, and promote business expansion and localization in key regions such as Europe and Latin America.

GlobalNews: That sounds very exciting. Could you please share EXUGLOBAL 's development plans and strategies in Latin America and Europe, particularly in South America?

Ruben Postma: Absolutely. Latin America is one of our key growth markets, particularly South America, which is brimming with opportunity and potential. We plan to return to the South American market and increase investment to meet the growing demand from our partners there. In fact, we will invest $ 20 million to help build the South American market. This investment will be used to drive innovation, enhance the user experience, and support local businesses and individual entrepreneurship.

GlobalNews: This is exciting news! Last question, Mr. Ruben Postma, could you share some of EXUGLOBAL 's key development priorities for the coming years?

Ruben Postma: One of our future priorities is to continue expanding into Latin America, including South America. We will increase investment to provide more innovative user experiences to meet evolving user needs. Furthermore, we will support local businesses and individual entrepreneurs by providing them with online channels to help them expand their businesses. We hope to achieve mutual prosperity and mutual benefit with local businesses and entrepreneurs, and to create a better future together. We will also continue to promote sustainable development and give back to society.

GlobalNews: Thank you very much, Mr. Ruben Postma, for sharing your vision and plans for the future of EXUGLOBAL. This $ 20 million investment will help build the South American market and bring more opportunities to users and local businesses. Thank you for your time!

Ruben Postma: Thank you very much for inviting GlobalNews. I look forward to the future developments. Thank you for your attention.
