

“Income Property Club Launches to Help Single-Income Professionals Build Passive Real Estate Wealth”

Curated, step-by-step real estate investing made simple without tenants, toilets, or guesswork

Seattle, Washington Sep 9, 2025 (IssueWire.com) - Single-income professionals who want to grow their wealth without the headaches of being a landlord or depending on volatile markets now have a simpler option. Real estate investor and former Navy fighter pilot Patrick Imperato has launched the Income Property Club, a subscription-based service that delivers vetted income property deals and real estate investing education directly to members' inboxes each week.

For less than the price of a coffee a week, members receive a full breakdown of one income-producing property every Wednesday. Each opportunity includes cash flow analysis, rental projections, market reports, and step-by-step education to help them confidently evaluate and invest in real estate.

"Most of my clients don't want another job. They want predictable income without stress," said Patrick Imperato, Founder of Tala Partners and creator of the Hands-Off Income System. "This club is built for single-income professionals who are tired of chasing market returns and want a clear, consistent way to grow wealth without giving up their time."

The Income Property Club is designed for professionals like executives, doctors, and pre-retirees who already earn well but don't know where to start with real estate or are overwhelmed by conflicting advice and complex strategies. Members can expect:

- One income property emailed each week with full ROI analysis
- Step-by-step guides on evaluating deals and scaling a portfolio
- Turnkey investment education with no landlord responsibilities
- Optional access to larger passive syndication deals for qualified investors
