

Jenny Andersen, RN-III, LPN: Advancing Patient Care Through Emergency and Home Infusion Nursing

Committed to Compassion, Excellence, and High-Quality Healthcare

Clovis, California Sep 26, 2025 (Issuewire.com) - Jenny Andersen, RN-III, LPN, a seasoned registered nurse with over a decade of experience in emergency medicine, is making strides in the field of nursing with her recent transition into home infusion nursing. Since August 2015, Jenny has been a vital member of the Emergency Room team at Saint Agnes Medical Center in Fresno, California, where her commitment to delivering compassionate, high-quality care during critical moments has made a lasting impact on countless patients and their families.

In her role as an on-demand home infusion nurse with Float Health, which she joined in November 2024, Jenny brings her extensive hospital expertise into the homes of patients needing specialized care. With a focus on delivering safe and effective infusion therapies, she is dedicated to ensuring that patients receive the same level of care they would expect in a hospital setting, all within the comfort and familiarity of their own environment. This innovative approach to healthcare requires not only clinical precision and independence but also exceptional patient education skills—qualities that Jenny has honed throughout her remarkable career.

Jenny's journey in nursing began at Fresno City College, where she earned her Registered Nursing degree in 2015. Since then, she has continually sought to enhance her skills and knowledge, obtaining several vital certifications, including MICN, TNCC, PALS, ACLS, and BLS. As an active member of the Emergency Nurses Association, Jenny stays informed about the latest developments in emergency care, ensuring her practice is both current and effective.

Her passion for nursing extends beyond clinical skills; Jenny is deeply committed to making a meaningful difference in the lives of her patients and their families. She thrives in dynamic environments that require adaptability, teamwork, and a calm presence under pressure. Jenny takes great pride in her ability to provide compassionate care and actively works to foster positive health outcomes in her community.

As Jenny Andersen advances in her nursing career, specializing in emergency and home infusion nursing, she remains steadfast in her mission to enhance the overall quality of care and improve patient well-being. Her dedication to service embodies the essence of nursing and sets a standard for excellence in the healthcare field.

Learn More about Jenny Andersen:

Through her online profile, <https://todaysnurse.org/nurse/4152082>

Media Contact

Today'sNurse

@todaysnurse.com

Source : Jenny Andersen

See on IssueWire