

MachineTranslation.com Just Cracked the Code on Large-File AI Translation

Beaverton, Oregon Jan 5, 2026 (IssueWire.com) - MachineTranslation.com now translates very large documents in a single upload. The platform accepts files up to 30 MB and preserves the original layout, which means headings, fonts, colors, tables, lists, spacing, and images remain in place. Teams can upload once, translate, and download a file that is ready to use.

“Splitting big documents wastes time and breaks layout,” said Ofer Tirosh, CEO of Tomedes. “We designed this update to keep structure intact so users finish faster with fewer fixes.”

Key capabilities

- Single upload up to 30 MB
- Layout preserved from start to finish
- Instant start with a preview of the first 3,000 words
- Easy export in the original format or a clean DOCX

How it works

MachineTranslation.com reads document structure while leading AI engines handle the language. The system supports Google Translate, Claude, Gemini, and Mistral. Text and styling move together so the final output looks polished.

“The button is simple because the heavy work runs under the hood,” said Shashank Jain, Head of Technology. “We preflight each file, apply safe defaults, and export a clean copy.”

Ideal use cases

- Education: textbooks, course packs, training manuals
- Legal: contracts, exhibits, and binders without table rework
- Marketing: brochures, proposals, and long decks without redesign
- Operations and HR: SOPs, handbooks, and forms at scale
- Startups: investor materials that keep the original look
- Agencies and LSPs: client ready files with fewer manual tweaks

Pro services and formats

For brand sensitive or print heavy projects, MachineTranslation.com also offers Pro DTP (Desktop Publishing) for expert typography and page flow.
