Bled, Gorenjska Sep 11, 2025 (IssueWire.com) - A new self-help workbook, Ducks in a Row: Get Your Wishes and Wallet Sorted Before It's Too Late, is now available on Amazon. Written by JEC (Writeright Books), this practical guide helps families prepare for life's most important transition with clarity and peace of mind. Through simple checklists and tick boxes, end-of-life planning becomes accessible to anyone — protecting children, pets, finances, and personal wishes.

For too many families, the loss of a loved one brings not only grief but also confusion and financial stress. Without clear instructions, important decisions about children, pets, and assets are left to the government — not the family. Ducks in a Row provides a simple, approachable solution.

Designed as a workbook, it includes:

-  Easy-to-follow checklists
-  Tick boxes for progress tracking
-  Practical guidance without legal jargon
-  Space to record personal wishes and details

"I created Ducks in a Row to help families avoid fear and overwhelm," says JEC. "This isn't about lawyers and complicated terms. It's about making sure nothing important is left undone — so your loved ones have clarity, not chaos."

Early readers are already calling the book "essential" and "something every household should have."

Ducks in a Row is available now in Kindle and paperback formats on Amazon.
