A DAVID POLCINO FILM

OTHELLO SYNDROME

BREAKUPS ARE HARD. HOSTAGE SITUATIONS—HARDER.

DAVID POLCINO

MAAYAN MALKA

Hollywood, California Sep 18, 2025 (IssueWire.com) - From Noise and Vision Productions comes a new film from writer/director David Polcino starring Maayan Malka and Dave Corwin.

A troubled man overcome with heartache from his past relationship kidnaps a woman to pose as his fake girlfriend for social media. The situation turns into more than he can handle when his victim becomes more enthralled with his plan than he could ever imagine.

“It was a pleasure working with Maayan on my film, Othello Syndrome,” said Polcino, “She has the perfect balance of innocence mixed with danger, which is exactly what this role called for.”

A former supervising editor at Film Roman (Family Guy) and visual effects artist for Sacha Baren Cohen’s Bruno, Polcino has turned to writing and directing in recent years, winning many awards from music production, visual effects, to editing and directing.

Known for acting in past projects such as Sirens and Landing on Their Feet, Malka is slated to appear in the upcoming Broken Girls’ Police.

Filmed in a single location, this intense ride takes viewers through the highs and lows of despair and the need for human connection.
