

Peblla TrueTime: Redefines Restaurant Time Tracking with Facial Recognition

Peblla today announced the launch of Peblla TrueTime, its new facial recognition time clock designed to eliminate inefficiencies and risks in restaurant workforce management—while improving accuracy, security, and compliance.

Rockville, Maryland Sep 8, 2025 (Issuewire.com) - Challenges with Traditional Time Tracking

For decades, restaurants have relied on PIN codes, swipe cards, and mobile apps to track employee hours. But these outdated systems come with persistent problems:

- Time theft and buddy punching – Employees can clock in for each other, costing U.S. restaurants billions annually.
- Operational slowdowns – Staff waste valuable minutes fumbling with PINs or misplaced cards during shift changes.
- Disputed records – With rising labor regulations and wage audits, flimsy timekeeping systems leave owners vulnerable to compliance risks.
- Lack of trust – When staff see loopholes being exploited, accountability and morale take a hit.

These challenges have become so common that many operators accept them as unavoidable. Peblla believes it's time for a smarter, more secure approach.

A Smarter Way to Clock In

Peblla TrueTime replaces unreliable methods with a fast, secure, and employee-friendly experience. Workers simply walk up to the device, and within seconds, their identity is verified using dual-lens cameras with advanced liveness detection—no passwords to remember, no cards to lose, and no apps to manipulate.

Key Benefits for Restaurants

- Efficiency at scale – Instant, touch-free clock-ins keep operations flowing, even during peak hours.
- Enhanced security – Consent-based facial recognition eliminates buddy punching and ensures accurate records.
- Reliable audit trail – On-site photo logs offer trusted documentation in the event of disputes.
- Easy deployment – The device connects directly to existing POS systems—no extra hardware needed.
- Data autonomy – All information is stored locally, operating even offline for maximum security and control.

Looking Ahead

Peblla is building additional integrations with scheduling, payroll, and tip management, aiming to create a unified platform that reduces administrative burden while improving compliance and employee satisfaction.

Executive Commentary

“Restaurants have been underserved by workforce management technology for too long,” said Jason Moon, CEO of Peblla. “Owners need solutions that are practical in a fast-paced environment and protective when it comes to labor accuracy and compliance. Peblla TrueTime does both—making daily operations smoother while giving restaurants the confidence that their records will stand up to scrutiny.”
