Advancing Patient Care and Shaping the Future of Medical Education

Lebanon, New Hampshire Oct 24, 2025 (IssueWire.com) - Lebanon, New Hampshire – Dartmouth Hitchcock Medical Center proudly recognizes Jessica M. Sin, MD, PhD, a board-certified radiologist who has been an integral part of the Department of Radiology since 2017. With a commitment to improving patient well-being through collaborative healthcare practices, Dr. Sin plays a vital role in the lives of her patients, working closely with their healthcare teams to ensure they achieve their health goals.

“I enjoy playing a role in easing the pain and suffering of my patients. It's gratifying to help patients feel better so they can return to a fulfilling life,” says Dr. Sin, highlighting her dedication to compassionate care.

In addition to her clinical responsibilities, Dr. Sin serves as an Assistant Professor of Radiology at the Geisel School of Medicine at Dartmouth, where she is shaping the future of the medical profession by teaching the next generation of radiologists.

Her academic journey is a testament to her dedication to both science and medicine, beginning with a PhD in Chemistry from Princeton University in 2002. Dr. Sin further expanded her intellectual horizons by completing a PhD in Philosophy at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology in 2007, demonstrating her commitment to understanding the deeper connections between science and human experience.

Dr. Sin earned her Doctor of Medicine at Stanford University School of Medicine in 2011. She completed her internship in Internal Medicine at Greenwich Hospital in Connecticut in 2012, followed by a residency in Radiology at Stanford University Hospital and Clinics, finishing in 2016. To further specialize, she completed a fellowship in Musculoskeletal Imaging and Intervention at the University of Wisconsin Hospital and Clinics in 2017.

As a Diplomate of the American Board of Radiology, Dr. Sin specializes in musculoskeletal radiology and is dedicated to advancing her expertise. She is also the President-Elect of the New England Roentgen Ray Society for 2025, reflecting her leadership in the radiology community.

Dr. Sin is licensed to practice medicine in multiple states, including Wisconsin, New Hampshire, Vermont, Virginia, and California, showcasing her broad qualifications and commitment to providing accessible care to patients across the nation.
