

Mayo Clinic's Dr. Jonathan J. Morrison Continues to Advance Vascular and Endovascular Surgery

Renowned Surgeon Brings Expertise in Hemorrhage Control and Vascular Emergencies to Mayo Clinic's Department of Surgery

Rochester, Minnesota Oct 21, 2025 (Issuewire.com) - Mayo Clinic is proud to highlight the contributions and ongoing work of Jonathan J. Morrison, MB, ChB, PhD, an esteemed vascular and endovascular surgeon within its Department of Surgery. With a distinguished academic and professional background, Dr. Morrison has made significant strides in the areas of hemorrhage control, vascular emergencies, and innovative medical device development.

Dr. Morrison, originally from Glasgow, Scotland, earned his medical degree (MB ChB) from the University of Edinburgh Medical School in 2004. He furthered his expertise by obtaining a Ph.D. in Endovascular Hemorrhage Control from the University of Glasgow and the U.S. Army Institute for Surgical Research in 2014. His surgical training included a rigorous program through the National Health Service West of Scotland Rotation, culminating in certification in general surgery from the Royal College of Physicians & Surgeons of Glasgow in 2016.

Before his current role at Mayo Clinic, Dr. Morrison served at the University of Maryland's R. Adams Cowley Shock Trauma Center, where he was honored as Trauma Attending of the Year in 2020 and received the prestigious Shock Trauma Hero Award for his exemplary contributions in critical care and trauma surgery. His experience has equipped him with the skills necessary to handle complex vascular emergencies and provide cutting-edge care to patients.

At Mayo Clinic, Dr. Morrison is a vital member of the Vascular and Endovascular Surgery specialty group. His clinical interests encompass a wide array of topics, including vascular emergencies, ischemia and reperfusion injury, mesenteric vascular disease, and the translational research of vascular surgery. His dedication to advancing the field is evidenced by his active involvement in numerous professional societies, including the American Heart Association, the Society for Vascular Surgery, the Vascular and Endovascular Surgery Society, the Shock Society, the American Association for the Surgery of Trauma, the American College of Surgeons, the Society of Endovascular Resuscitation and Trauma Management, the Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons of Glasgow, and the Midwestern Vascular Surgical Society.

Dr. Morrison has authored numerous scholarly publications that have contributed to the advancement of both vascular and trauma surgery. His commitment to education, research, and patient care underscores the Mayo Clinic's mission to provide comprehensive, patient-centered care.

As he continues to innovate and educate, Dr. Jonathan J. Morrison is poised to make lasting impacts in the realm of vascular and endovascular surgery, further establishing Mayo Clinic as a leader in surgical excellence.
