Winnipeg, Manitoba Oct 8, 2025 (IssueWire.com) - In a captivating fusion of romance and science fiction, Nityanand Sharma's new novel "Ornament of Love and the Search for Life," tells of love, destiny, and the intricate threads of humanity with the cosmos through the eyes of two spirited cosmologists.

The plot surrounds two Atacama Desert researchers, Nicholas and Susan. Their love, affection and relationship mirrors the boundless tapestry of the universe. Groundbreaking discoveries await them, revealed when they arrive to work at the telescope located in the Atacama Desert. One day, however, a man and a woman intricately and dexterously constructed, visit Earth from Mars. They are known as Dexter and Astral, and as it turns out Mars is not a barren planet as we know it, but a well-known and hidden society that thrives and is well concealed from the eyes of humanity.

An interplanetary relationship stems from what is originally a worldwide scientific interest. Nicholas and Susan's Martian interaction educates them of a society based on peace, sustainability, and harmony that Earth unfortunately struggles with. Other Earth citizens are inspired by this moment to devote themselves to creating a society based on collaboration, advanced technology, and a new consciousness known as the 'Martian Initiative.'

As the characters cross over to the new world, the scope of the novel touches on love, family, and the moral questions that surround colonizing space. The story sprawls to the new generation, when their daughter Sally marries Drake, a Martian architect, bridging love and a cross-planet romance

"Ornament of Love and the Search for Life" is more than a sci-fi romance—it is a hopeful vision of what humanity could achieve through unity, curiosity, and compassion. Sharma, a retired Education Superintendent and author of the autobiography My India My Canada, brings a unique voice to speculative fiction, blending scientific insight with heartfelt storytelling.

This inspiring tale is now available for readers eager to journey beyond the stars and imagine a future where Earth and Mars walk hand in hand.
