

Pulzzy Unveils AI-Powered Tools for Smarter Social Media and Content Creation

Pico Rivera, California Oct 8, 2025 (IssueWire.com) - Pulzzy today announced the upcoming launch of its innovative AI-driven platform designed to redefine how creators, marketers, and businesses manage and create digital content. The new platform introduces two core products — Pulzzy Social and Pulzzy Content — combining automation, intelligence, and creativity into one seamless experience.

Pulzzy Social empowers brands and creators to manage multiple social media channels from a single, unified dashboard. It allows users to schedule posts, generate AI-assisted captions and visuals, and analyze audience engagement with real-time insights. Built with cutting-edge AI models, Pulzzy Social helps users optimize their social strategies, maintain consistent posting, and grow their digital presence without the daily manual effort.

Pulzzy Content, on the other hand, brings the power of advanced language models to blog writing and SEO & GEO optimization. The AI Blog Writer enables creators to generate long-form, high-quality articles in minutes — tailored to audience interests and aligned with search intent. With features such as tone control, keyword integration, and data-backed content analysis, Pulzzy Content helps marketers publish professional-grade articles that drive organic traffic and brand authority.

“Our mission with Pulzzy is to make content creation and management effortless, intelligent, and inspiring,” said Richard, CEO of Pulzzy. “We believe AI should empower creators — not replace them — by giving them smarter tools to scale their creativity and impact.”

With the upcoming public launch, Pulzzy aims to bridge the gap between AI innovation and human storytelling. The platform offers early access to creators, agencies, and small businesses who want to experience the next generation of AI-powered marketing tools.
