

Stuart Segerman, MD: A Pillar of Emergency Medicine at Emory Saint Joseph's Hospital of Atlanta

Celebrating Over Four Decades of Exceptional Care and Expertise

Atlanta, Georgia Oct 9, 2025 (IssueWire.com) - Stuart Segerman, MD, a board-certified and highly respected emergency physician, has dedicated his illustrious career to providing outstanding medical care at Emory Saint Joseph's Hospital of Atlanta since February 1984. With a commitment to excellence in emergency medicine, Dr. Segerman has become a vital resource in the Sandy Springs community, renowned for his extensive knowledge and compassionate patient care.

Dr. Segerman earned his Bachelor of Science in Social and Behavioral Sciences from Johns Hopkins University in 1974 before pursuing his Medical Degree at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill School of Medicine, graduating in 1978. He then completed his internship and residency in pediatrics at Emory University, where he served as Chief Resident from 1981 to 1982. This rigorous training laid the foundation for his successful career in emergency medicine.

In addition to his role at Emory Saint Joseph's Hospital, Dr. Segerman is a Partner at Emergency Care of Atlanta, PC, where he continues to provide critical care in fast-paced and high-stakes environments. His expertise spans critical care medicine, hospice care, and palliative medicine, as well as treating complex conditions such as myocardial infarction, respiratory failure, and congestive heart failure. His proficiency in central venous catheter placement and managing hip dislocations further underscores his comprehensive skill set.

Dr. Segerman's dedication to the field has not gone unnoticed. He has been recognized as a Fellow of the American College of Emergency Physicians and holds Diplomate status from both the American Board of Emergency Medicine and the American Board of Pediatrics. His contributions to medicine have earned him accolades, including being named one of Atlanta Magazine's Top Docs for the years 2022-2025, a testament to his commitment to excellence and patient care.

As he continues his practice, Dr. Stuart Segerman remains focused on improving patient outcomes and mentoring the next generation of medical professionals. His journey in emergency medicine exemplifies dedication, expertise, and a profound commitment to serving the Atlanta community.
