

Zyplr Launches in Colorado, Ending High Real Estate Commissions

Homeowners can now sell their properties without agents and keep more of their equity.

Denver, Colorado Oct 15, 2025 (Issuewire.com) - Zyplr, a Colorado-based company, has officially launched a new real estate marketplace designed to help homeowners sell their properties without traditional agents or high commissions. The platform allows sellers to list their homes directly on the Multiple Listing Service (MLS), giving them the same professional exposure as any licensed brokerage, while paying only a flat $1,000 fee at closing.

Through Zyplr, sellers receive full support from professional coordinators who guide them from listing to closing, handling contracts, disclosures, and communication with title companies. Every listing is automatically syndicated across major real estate platforms, including Zillow, Realtor, and Redfin, ensuring maximum visibility at minimal cost.

"People are tired of giving up five or six percent of their home's value to pay commissions," said a Zyplr spokesperson. "Zyplr was built to make selling a home transparent, affordable, and fair. Homeowners deserve the same level of exposure and support without paying thousands in unnecessary fees."

Zyplr's launch comes at a time when major industry changes are reshaping how real estate transactions are handled nationwide. With its flat-fee structure, MLS integration, and focus on consumer savings, Zyplr is leading a new movement toward fair and commission-free real estate.
