

An Enchanting Tale of Magic, Nature, and Spiritual Awakening from Author Levanah Shell Bdolak

Meet the invisible race of the Fae and the humans who champion their cause.

Merrilee was about to go on vacation when a tall handsome stranger knocked on her front door. He told her she had Fae blood, and was a descendant from an Irish family who were devoted helpers for the Fae. He asked her to help him save his kingdom by aiding his mission to save the planet. To learn the hidden information about her family, Merrilee agreed to help him. This set her on a wild adventure of crisscrossing the globe, meeting Gods & Goddesses of old, Mermaids, Elementals; travelling in the hidden fae ley lines in the earth; and this totally changed and shocked everything she ever believed in.

Fairies are an invisible race that share their planet with us. They are the keepers of nature. If you calm your emotion, and move into serenity in the garden, they may honor you with their presence.

The author of this book, Levanah, is a professional clairvoyant. She claims that the Fairies asked her to share information about them. She felt she could not write a book without "proof" so she decided to write a spiritual visionary fantasy as a vehicle for explaining the true race of the Fae who exist now, sharing the earth with us, but are mostly invisible to humans. This book is a spiritual compass that introduces you to the natural realm of the living race of the Fae.

Los Angeles, California Nov 20, 2025 (Issuewire.com) - Books To Life Marketing proudly presents A Fairy Story: Saving The Green by Levanah Shell Bdolak, a beautifully crafted eco-spiritual fantasy that unveils the hidden realm of the Fae — the true keepers of nature whose love and devotion preserve the balance of the Earth.

In a world where humanity's carelessness threatens nature's harmony, A Fairy Story: Saving The Green reminds readers that we are all connected — humans, creatures, and unseen guardians alike. Through its rich storytelling and deep spiritual undertones, the book inspires readers to rediscover their bond with the natural world and to protect the beauty that sustains us all.

Quote from the Author:

"I learned that the Fae are an invisible race that also inhabits our earth. They are the true keepers of nature. Their whole being and essence is entwined with the care and love of the earth."

About the Book:

Levanah Shell Bdolak's A Fairy Story: Saving The Green transports readers into a mystical dimension where the Fae work tirelessly to restore the Earth's balance. When human neglect endangers the natural order, the Fae must rise to heal what has been broken — teaching humanity lessons in compassion, responsibility, and spiritual awareness.

Blending fantasy and divine insight, Bdolak delivers a powerful eco-spiritual message that resonates deeply with readers seeking purpose and connection in an increasingly chaotic world.

The book's themes of healing, consciousness, and respect for nature align beautifully with her other inspiring title, Healing Magic — a transformative guide that explores how spiritual energy and intention can restore inner harmony and empower the soul.

About the Author:

Levanah Shell Bdolak is a Spiritual Counselor, motivational speaker, teacher, and Intuition Healer. She is one of the original founders of the ClearSight Center in Malibu, California, and Tokyo as ClearSight Japan.

She has introduced thousands to transformational seminars globally, nationally, and online, helping individuals shift their life goals to align with their true expectations. With compassion and discipline, Levanah teaches others to release trauma and fears that hinder their growth and relationships.

As a Wiccan Priestess, ritual practitioner, and teacher of women's empowerment, she brings decades of wisdom to her writing and teaching. Levanah has authored numerous self-help and spiritual books in both the U.S. and Japan, including her notable works A Fairy Story: Saving The Green and Healing Magic.
