Situated at 2050 W Kokopelli Ln, the family-focused company specializes in these popular Poodle crossbreeds, emphasizing health clearances, socialization, and finding the best possible match for prospective families across the region and beyond.

In an increasingly competitive environment, Doodling Pups, LLC has differentiated itself by focusing on a proven and ethical approach to breeding, ensuring that every puppy is raised in a stimulating, clean, and loving environment before transitioning to its forever home. This philosophy places temperament and genetic health at the forefront, aiming to produce true companion dogs suitable for diverse family settings. The company's focus remains steadfast on quality over volume, allowing them to maintain an industry-leading commitment to the wellbeing of their parent dogs and puppies.

The Bernedoodle Difference: Combining Temperament and Coat

The Bernedoodle, a cross between the Bernese Mountain Dog and a Poodle, is one of the flagship offerings at Doodling Pups. The popularity of this breed stems from its highly desirable combination of traits: the relaxed, loyal, and gentle nature of the Bernese Mountain Dog paired with the high intelligence and low-to-non-shedding coat of the Poodle.

Doodling Pups, LLC is dedicated to carefully selecting parent dogs to mitigate potential health concerns common to large breeds while capitalizing on the hybrid vigor that often makes crossbreeds robust. Their Bernedoodle puppies are known for their striking tri-color coats and their exceptionally sweet and user-friendly disposition. They often make top-rated family pets due to their patient nature with children and their eagerness to please. The team ensures that each Bernedoodle puppy is temperament tested, allowing them to provide a highly results-driven placement process that aligns the puppy's personality with the family's lifestyle, whether they are looking for a couch companion or an active adventure partner.

Goldendoodles: The Quintessential Family Dog

Goldendoodles, the cross between a Golden Retriever and a Poodle, represent the company's other primary specialization. Widely recognized as one of the most cheerful, intelligent, and scalable family dogs, the Goldendoodle is prized for its outgoing personality and adaptability.

The breeding program at Doodling Pups, LLC prioritizes the classic Golden Retriever affability while ensuring the low-shedding qualities of the Poodle are consistently maintained. These puppies are often recommended for first-time dog owners due to their highly trainable nature, a characteristic that makes them especially reliable. The company believes the Goldendoodle's ability to transition seamlessly into various roles—from therapy and service work to energetic hiking companions—makes them a cornerstone of their services. By using innovative socialization methods starting from birth, the Doodling Pups team ensures that their Goldendoodle puppies are exposed to a wide variety of sights, sounds, and textures, creating a solid foundation for confidence and emotional stability. This high-performance start in life is crucial for their future success in any home.
