As more people seek legitimate, flexible ways to earn income, professional trainer Darlene Tarnoski is helping individuals create meaningful careers through her Supervised Visitation Training and 40-Hour Basic Mediation Training programs.

These online, self-paced courses give students the tools, structure, and personal support they need to begin earning a professional income — whether part-time or full-time — by helping others navigate life's challenges with compassion and clarity.

Legitimate, Skill-Based Training That Pays

Students can learn to become a Monitor or Mediator and begin earning income while working from home or within their communities.

- Supervised Visitation Monitors typically earn $45–$65 per hour, providing court-approved visitation services.
- Mediators often earn $150 or more per hour, helping people resolve disputes outside the courtroom.

Each course includes downloadable materials, real-world templates, practical tools, and a Certificate of Completion upon finishing. Participants also receive personalized support directly from Darlene, ensuring they can confidently start their new professional path.

“You don’t need a law degree to make a professional income through mediation or supervised visitation,” said Darlene Tarnoski. “You just need the right training — and the commitment to helping others with clarity, neutrality, and respect.”

Courses Designed for Flexibility and Success

- 100% Online and Self-Paced
- Personalized Guidance and Mentorship
- Downloadable Forms, Samples, and Case Studies
- Certificate of Completion for Every Program
- Practical Roadmap to Career Success

These programs are ideal for those seeking a new career, supplemental income, or a flexible work-from-home opportunity that makes a positive impact.
