New Delhi, Delhi Nov 19, 2025 (Issuewire.com) - EasExplore Pods, a new-age hospitality startup founded by Rishu Raj, has officially announced plans to launch India's first modern short-stay pod accommodation network. The company aims to solve a major gap in India's travel ecosystem by offering clean, safe, and affordable pods for travellers who need a comfortable place to rest for a few hours—without paying full-day hotel charges.

EasExplore Pods will introduce a globally inspired pod-style micro-stay experience designed specifically for Indian travellers, railway passengers, corporate commuters, and tourists. Each pod is built with a focus on privacy, hygiene, and accessibility, offering 3-hour, 6-hour, 12-hour, and 24-hour stay options.

The upcoming pod centres will feature:

- Private, secure sleeping pods
- QR-based digital check-in and access
- CCTV-equipped safety
- Well-maintained, hygienic interiors
- Dedicated housekeeping support
- Vending machines for convenience items

Speaking about the launch, founder Rishu Raj shared, “Travellers in India often struggle to find affordable and clean places to relax during long waiting hours. Our mission with EasExplore Pods is to bring a simple, comfortable, and cost-effective solution that works perfectly for short-stay needs near railway stations, metro hubs, and corporate zones.”

EasExplore’s first pod station is planned to open soon, starting in New Delhi and Noida, followed by expansion into high-footfall transit locations including pilgrimage towns and major transport hubs.

With India witnessing an increasing number of transit travellers every year, EasExplore Pods aims to redefine how people experience short-stay hospitality—making it accessible, affordable, and standardized across the country.
