

ExSynt Solutions Expands AiDiscover Beta to Empower Consultants With Actionable Insights

Innovative platform extension gives consulting professionals pioneering tools to transform client conversations into strategic business intelligence - early adopters gain exclusive access and help shape the future of consulting workflows.

Nashua, New Hampshire Nov 10, 2025 (Issuewire.com) - ExSynt Solutions today announced an extension of the consultant-focused beta for its flagship platform, AiDiscover. Designed for consulting firms and independent consultants, AiDiscover transforms interviews and recorded conversations into structured, actionable business intelligence.

“Consultants are under more pressure than ever to deliver insight, impact and value from the conversations they hold with clients and teams,” said Stephen Pappas, Founder and CEO of ExSynt Solutions. “Extending the beta through 2025 gives us more time to refine the experience and ensure AiDiscover fits seamlessly into real consulting workflows.”

Key consultant-beta features include:

- Tailored Discovery Packs for consulting workflows
- Multi-interview cross-analysis for Knowledge Management
- Simple upload and automated insight reporting
- Secure, client-shareable summaries and reports

Early participants have reported success uncovering knowledge gaps and alignment issues that traditional note-taking and manual review often miss. The beta extension allows ExSynt to expand participation and collect deeper field feedback before general release.

How to join

Consultants can apply through the beta form at <http://www.exsynt.com/beta-tester-application-form>. Selected participants receive early access, dedicated support and influence over the product roadmap.

“Our goal is to make AiDiscover the go-to insight companion for consultants navigating complex client challenges,” added Pappas. “By continuing the beta, we’re shaping a platform built directly around consultant feedback.”
