Sheridan, Wyoming Nov 12, 2025 (IssueWire.com) - In an online landscape filled with low-quality leads and fake customer requests, NearbyHunt.com is emerging as the trusted solution for U.S. service professionals. The fast-growing home services platform is redefining how local contractors connect with real homeowners — through verified leads, zero guesswork, and transparent matching.

“For too long, local pros have been paying for clicks, fake leads, or recycled inquiries that waste time and money,” said Simranjeet Singh, Founder of NearbyHunt. “We built NearbyHunt to give professionals something they’ve always deserved — genuine, high-intent customers who actually need their service.”

Unlike traditional directories and pay-per-click networks, NearbyHunt operates as a performance-driven marketplace that verifies both sides — the homeowner and the professional. Every customer request is thoroughly screened for authenticity, and every professional profile is carefully validated for licenses, insurance, and relevant experience before they can receive leads.

The result: a clean, trustworthy ecosystem where real work meets real professionals.

“NearbyHunt is not about flooding inboxes with random leads,” Singh explained. “Our smart-matching algorithm and manual review process ensure that every connection has a strong chance of turning into a booked job.”

Professionals gain visibility among nearby homeowners who are actively seeking help in over 50 service categories, including Roofing, Electrical, AC Repair, Cleaning, and Plumbing. Each verified professional receives a dedicated profile page that highlights their licenses, reviews, service area, and ratings — increasing both local visibility and customer trust.

For contractors, handymen, and small service businesses, NearbyHunt offers a level playing field — no expensive ad campaigns, no bidding wars, just verified leads matched by need and geography.

“Whether you’re a solo HVAC tech or a roofing company, NearbyHunt gives you an edge without the complexity of marketing,” Singh added. “We handle the visibility — you handle the work.”

As the platform expands into major metro areas like Dallas, Houston, Denver, Phoenix, and Orlando, it continues to attract verified pros who want results without the clutter of traditional lead platforms.

NearbyHunt plans to onboard over 10,000 verified professionals by mid-2026, making it one of the fastest-growing contractor-focused platforms in the U.S. home services industry.
