

Sensor Noise release new single, "Remember," accompanied by a claymation video

Los Angeles, California Nov 6, 2025 (IssueWire.com) - The electronic indie rock band, Sensor Noise, released a peculiar track this Halloween. The new song titled "Remember" is accompanied by a claymation music video from artist Kyle Jakub.

Sensor Noise is based in Los Angeles, California and fronted by former child star, Allisyn Snyder (née Arm) who is known for her roles as Zora on Disney's Sonny With A Chance and Heather on NBC's AP Bio. The inside of her left wrist is tattooed with the cover art for David Lynch's 2013 album "The Big Dream," the primary inspiration for "Remember." Lynch's influence on the group is apparent in many of their visuals and tracks, especially their cover of the iconic Eraserhead song, "In Heaven," which they released on April 25, 2025, Allisyn's birthday.

Regarding "Remember," the band says the robotic background vocals were achieved with an MXR Talk Box hooked up to a Yamaha SonoGenic Keytar, performed by Joey Luthman. The beat comes from DJ and artist Rock Samson.

SONG LINK: <https://distrokid.com/hyperfollow/sensornoise/remember-feat-rock-samson>

MUSIC VIDEO LINK: <https://youtu.be/8RKjydCWWzo?si=QLuJD0ITLa79Vdgl>

Media Contact

SENSOR NOISE

@gmail.com

Source : Sensor Noise Band

See on IssueWire