

Shipbroman Gives Twitch Streaming a New Definition

Primorje-Gorski Kotar, Croatia (Hrvatska) Nov 17, 2025 (Issuewire.com) - The age of the internet has given people a chance to join together and build a community from any corner of the world. Twitch is one platform where people from all over the world come together to have a good time, enjoying streaming. Shipbroman is a famous Twitch premium partner streamer who has given this a new definition with his skills. Alen Zlimen goes by the name Shipbroman and is a 31-year-old from Croatia. He has been gaming and streaming on the platform for 7 years now, captivating audiences globally with his engaging streams and infectious personality.

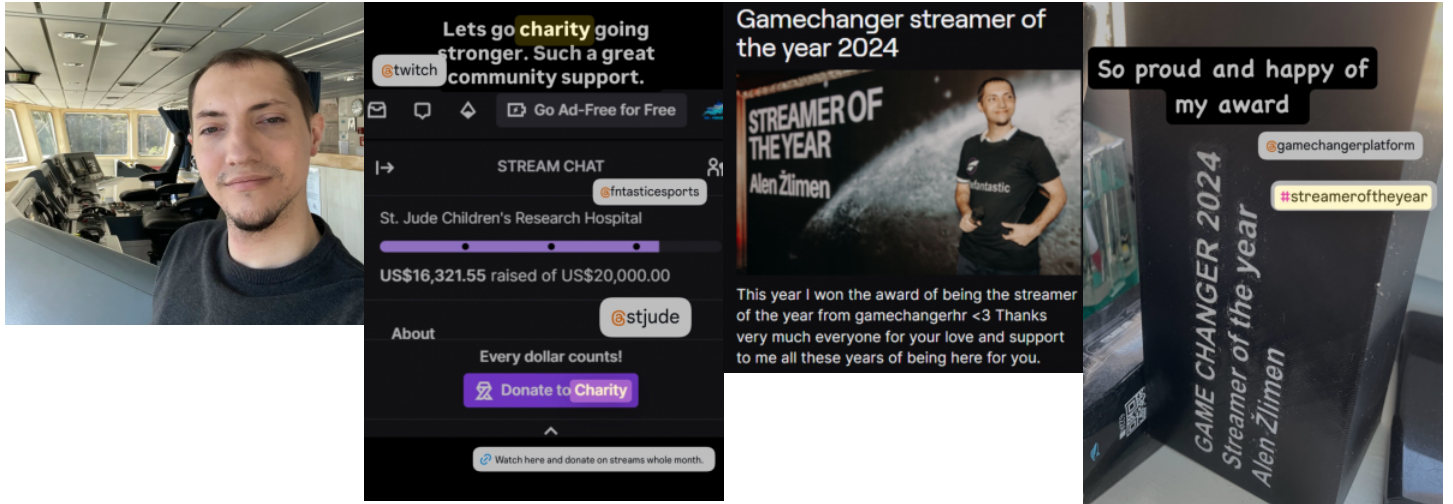

What started as a passion project 8 years ago has now become a full-blown part time job for Alen. Known for his calm yet fun demeanor, Shipbroman has built an incredible community on the platform containing more than 218,000 followers. On top of that, he has a total of 12.5 million channel views and more than 2 million unique viewers. This amazing achievement was soon followed by the attainment of the coveted Twitch Partner Status 7 years ago. This further proves Alen's single-mindedness and passion for not just his channel but for the game. His journey is one of determination and creativity, which highlights that with enough passion and consistency, anyone can transform a mere hobby into something grand, something that people from all around the world appreciate.

Alen's journey of being a Twitch streamer started nearly a decade ago. He started the channel out of his personal interest in sharing his gameplay, but soon his vibrant energy and tech knowledge grew it into an incredible channel that now more than 200k people enjoy. Within just a year, he became an official Twitch partner. It was a big achievement that opened doors to massive recognition, including brand partnerships and collaborations in the streaming community. Today, his channel is celebrated for its fun and unique content as well as Alen's support for other creators in the community. Over the years on Twitch, Alen has helped over 1250 Streamers reach the Affiliate Status. At the same time, he has also helped more than 140 streamers to reach Twitch Partner Status on Twitch. This is proof that Alen believes in sharing his knowledge and expertise, helping the community throughout his successful journey.

Apart from using his channel just for entertainment, Shipbroman engages in community in every stream. He engages in giveaways and collaborative events, along with a lot more, for his big community. Other than that, Alen enjoys a lot of creative content, which includes him cosplaying. This has now become a beloved part of his unique charm on the channel. This appeal has helped the streamer gain more viewers who watch longer videos. The feeling of making his viewers laugh and enjoy themselves has also boosted Alen's work and his passion for Twitch streaming. Alen's personality combines humor and intellect. He also carries a strong sense of community in everything he does. He also has an inventive mind, which gets fueled by his knowledge. Having a background in Electrical and Information Technologies, which he completed 3 years ago, has helped him continue his information and technology-driven streaming on the platform.

Alen has a story that showcases resilience and creativity. He was diagnosed with Asperger's syndrome 2 years ago in 2023. Since his diagnosis, his life has changed a lot, and created many difficulties with social interactions. Some days, he also has issues in properly writing messages to other streamers whom he supports and networks with, as well as the people around his socials who follow him. Tragically, this is not the only difficulty Alen faces. Throughout his life and especially after his success on Twitch, Alen has lost friends and been bullied by people who are jealous of his success and creative mind. However, he never gave up and always came back stronger.

From helping hundreds of streamers grow, creating a pure community, to raising thousands of dollars for charity, Alen's life and work have been a face of determination and a sense of giving back. Today, he has a thriving Twitch channel and a supportive community. This makes sure his future is bright. Shipbroman continues to push boundaries and inspires everyone with his pure heart, creative mind, and dedication.
