Born on the land of Maharashtra, Mr. Sunil Patil completed his education and spent his early life there. Since childhood, he had a dream — “to do something that could bring a real change in people’s lives.”

This very dream led him from Maharashtra to Surat, where he witnessed one of the biggest challenges our country faces — unemployment. He thought, “Why not create something that allows common people to start their own business with minimal investment and become self-reliant?”

From this thought emerged his inspiring tagline —

“Business, big or small, should be your own.”

To turn this vision into reality, he founded Ishita House Factory Outlet nearly 20 years ago. Through this platform, he provided thousands of people with opportunities to start their own businesses with low investment. Today, countless families stand on their own feet and contribute meaningfully to India's economy because of his initiative.

Today, Mr. Sunil Patil is not just a successful entrepreneur but also a true source of inspiration for employment generation and the Atmanirbhar Bharat (Self-Reliant India) movement. His lifelong mission remains —

“Every Indian should have the opportunity to own their own business.”
