

Compusage LLC Launches Free Global Beta of BatterUp®5

The Baseball-Themed Math Fluency App

Birmingham, Alabama Dec 3, 2025 (IssueWire.com) - Compusage LLC, the organization behind the International Math Bee®, is excited to announce the global beta launch of BatterUp®5, a baseball-themed math fluency app designed to make learning fun, competitive, and measurable for students worldwide.

Free Beta Access — Limited Spots Available

The beta testing phase, running through February 2026, offers free access to schools, teachers, parents, and students. Beta slots are limited, and early registrants will be the first to experience this innovative learning tool before the official international launch. Once the slots are filled, no further early access will be available until the app's full release.

BatterUp®5 — Where Math Meets Baseball

BatterUp®5 transforms traditional math drills into interactive "at-bats," helping students practice grade-level math skills like addition, subtraction, multiplication, and division. Students compete individually or in teams, tracking their batting averages, earning student cards, and challenging classmates or peers around the world.

Real-Time Insights for Teachers and Parents

The app includes a dashboard for teachers and parents to monitor student performance, growth trends, and classroom or team progress. Participants in the beta are encouraged to provide feedback on app features, gameplay, and usability, helping shape the final version of BatterUp®5.

Emily Bowman, Executive Director of International Math Bee® and BatterUp®5, said:

"BatterUp®5 was designed to combine the excitement of baseball with structured math practice. This beta gives educators and families a chance to experience the app firsthand and provide feedback that will directly influence the final product. We're thrilled to invite students from around the globe to step up to the plate!"

Sign Up for the Beta Today

Schools, teachers, and parents can register for free beta access at internationalmathbee.org/app. Early feedback is highly valued and will help make BatterUp®5 the most engaging and effective math learning experience possible.

About Compusage LLC

Compusage LLC operates the International Math Bee® and BatterUp®5, creating innovative educational tools and global competitions that advance math fluency and confidence among students. Through interactive apps and gamified learning experiences, the organization fosters measurable learning outcomes while promoting motivation and confidence in mathematics.

buzz@internationalmathbee.org

Media Contact

Emily Bowman

@internationalmathbee.org

Source : Compusage LLC

See on IssueWire