

Jo Joseph: A Cross Continental Scholar Shaping Dialogue between Technology and Migration

New Delhi, Delhi Dec 14, 2025 (Issuewire.com) - Dr. Jo Joseph has built a career that reflects determination, curiosity, and a strong commitment to learning. His journey began at Nedumkandam, in the state of Kerala, where he completed his early schooling in several institutions that laid the foundation for his future academic growth. These included St. Mary's LP School in Chembalam, Government LP School in Santhanpara, St. Maria Goretti UP School in Murikumthotti, and St. Sebastian's High School in Nedumkandam. He continued his post-secondary studies at the Government Vocational Higher

Secondary School in Nedumkandam. During these early years, he also completed vocational training in electrical studies, computer networking, and hardware as part of the Modular Employable Skills programs conducted by the Government of India. These experiences later played an important role in his interest in technology and its real-world applications.

His academic path expanded across South India as he pursued studies in several fields. He earned a Bachelor of Science degree in Electronics with Computer Hardware from NSS College Rajakumari under Mahatma Gandhi University in Kottayam. He then completed a Master of Science in Computer Science from MA College Ramapuram and later transferred to St. Antony's College in Kanjirapally under Bharathiar University in Coimbatore. His interest in broader social systems led him to complete an Master of Technology in Information Technology from Manonmaniam Sundaranar University in Tirunelveli, an Master of Philosophy in Political Science from Madurai Kamaraj University, an Master of Arts in Public Administration from the University of Madras in Chennai, and a Master of Social Work in Community Development from Annamalai University in Tamil Nadu.

Dr. Joseph extended his academic work to Europe, where he earned two doctoral degrees. He completed a Doctorate in Information and Communication Technologies at the University of the Balearic Islands in Palma under the supervision of Professor Carlos Juiz Garcia. There, he was associated with the Department of Computer Architecture and Engineering and worked within a research group focused on systems, management programs, and digital structures. He completed a second doctoral degree in Migration Studies at the University of Granada under the supervision of Professor Francisco Javier Garcia Castano through the Institute of Migration Studies. This work connected him with the Department of Humanities, Legal and Social Sciences and helped him develop a deep understanding of migration, social integration, and global movement.

Across more than a decade of experience, Dr. Joseph has worked in both academic institutions and industries in India, the United Arab Emirates, the European Union, and Australia. His earlier roles included positions at ICICI Bank in Kerala, NIMS University in Rajasthan, Digital Web and Magnus Info in Delhi, Cloudnet Technologies in Kochi, Manvish Info Solutions in Alwaye, and NGI and Alwaqt Tech Cont LLC in Sharjah. He also worked with Smart Square Tech and other firms in Dubai, Continental Systems USA Inc in Miami, and Airli Pty Ltd and Orbit Australia Pty Ltd in Sydney. These roles gave him practical experience in financial systems, information technology services, and management operations across different regions and business cultures.

In Europe, Dr. Joseph continues to work in the research group led by Professor Carlos Juiz Garcia at the University of the Balearic Islands. His focus includes management programs for research and innovation, structures for digital systems, and initiatives that support research development and knowledge transfer. His academic interests combine technology, social science, and public policy with a special emphasis on how digital systems can support governance and migration-related issues.

Dr. Joseph has contributed to international academic communities as a reviewer and editorial board member for journals connected to information technology, migration, and social sciences. His affiliations include the International Journal of ICT Research in Africa and the Middle East, IGI Global for studies on ICT and migration, Science PG, Springer Nature journals on migration, and several journals in Asia. He also serves as an Ambassador of the ARQUS European University Alliance and has been associated with the Center for Open Science Networks in the United States. He is a visiting scholar at the University of Technology in Sydney and has been invited to collaborate with the ICT department at the University of Michigan.

His written work includes books on information technology governance, the Armenian genocide, and Christian persecution. These books are available on Amazon, club de autores and Eliva Press. His research outputs cover topics such as governance models, digital systems, migration trends, cultural studies, global conflicts, agribusiness, and international relations. His papers range from detailed ICT governance frameworks to studies on social integration, migration ethics, remittances, and the socio-economic changes across different regions.

Dr. Joseph has also participated in national and international conferences, seminars, and academic events. These include programs hosted by the University of the Balearic Islands under the European Union projects, workshops on data analysis, doctoral congresses, migration studies seminars, and training sessions on corporate power structures and scientific research tools. His active participation reflects his dedication to continuous learning and professional growth.

His personal life is closely connected to his family. He is the youngest son of Joseph and Rosamma Joseph Kumbalamthanam. He has two elder brothers, Jose Joseph and Robin Joseph, and he is married to Anns Varghese, the youngest daughter of Cherian Varghese and Rachel Varghese Plathanathil. Dr. Joseph holds Indian nationality and has lived in the European Union, Australia, and the United Arab Emirates. He has traveled widely across Europe, the Middle East, and many regions of India. He speaks Malayalam, Hindi, Tamil, and English, and has also studied Spanish, French, and German. His interests include reading novels, listening to music, driving, playing shuttle badminton, and exploring information on the internet.

Dr. Joseph supports various civil society groups and international organizations. He has been active with the Red Cross in Spain, the Laudato Si movement in Italy, the National Youth Project in India, the National Service Scheme in India, and Caritas International. He also serves on the advisory board of Airlis Pty Ltd in Australia and works as Project Manager for Orbit Australia Pty Ltd. His willingness to help others remains a central part of his personal and professional identity.
