Your End-to-End Watch Producer: Two Decades of Horological Craftsmanship

Since our founding in 2004 in Shenzhen, the heart of global precision manufacturing, Billow Time has been built on a bedrock of passion and perseverance. Conceived by four co-founders, we began with a humble yet powerful vision: to master the art of watchmaking. Our early days saw a dedicated team of 23 artisans working alongside the founders, supported by 8 core machines. We possessed the essential heart of craftsmanship—dedicated polishing, drilling, Quality Control (QC), and Quality Assurance (QA) departments—focusing on quality above all, even before we expanded into the sophisticated realms of CNC machining, dedicated engineering, and international trade.

The pivotal shift came with the dawn of China's internet age around 2010. Recognizing a global opportunity, our visionary leaders strategically pivoted to target the overseas market. This wasn't just a change in clientele; it was a deep commitment to evolution. We embarked on significant investments—in state-of-the-art machinery, advanced manufacturing techniques, and robust channel development to connect with and understand customers worldwide. This journey from a focused local workshop to an internationally-minded watch producer has shaped our ethos: blending traditional watchmaking respect with innovative, client-driven capabilities.
