

Digicode and the Swiss company HEX SWISS enter into a joint venture focused on the Swiss market.

Bratislava, Bratislavsky Jan 21, 2026 (IssueWire.com) - Digicode and HEX SWISS established a strategic partnership, forming a joint venture to serve the Swiss market. This collaboration leverages the strengths of both companies to deliver innovative, reliable, and high-quality solutions for local businesses.

The joint venture combines Digicode's technological expertise with HEX SWISS's in-depth knowledge of the Swiss market. Together, the companies will pursue business opportunities and deliver solutions that meet the high standards of quality, reliability, and innovation expected in Switzerland.

The partnership aims to support Swiss companies with modern IT solutions and services that integrate Digicode's international experience and HEX SWISS's local presence.

"This cooperation represents an important step in expanding our presence in the Swiss market. By combining the experience of both companies, we aim to deliver high-value-added solutions that meet Swiss quality standards," said Alexander Karichensky, Chief Executive Officer, Digicode Europe.

"We see this joint venture as a step toward strengthening our technological capabilities and delivering even greater value to our clients in Switzerland. Digicode brings strong international experience and advanced technological expertise, which perfectly complements our deep understanding of the local market. We are excited about this cooperation and the innovative solutions we will develop together," said William Frenzel, Chief Executive Officer, HEX SWISS.
