

Doctoral Researcher Julian Rodriguez Announces Technical Study on Fiscal Intent and Institutional Friction

New Research Framework Bridges the Gap Between Hispanic Financial Literacy Initiative and Doctoral Studies in International Policy

Austin, Texas Jan 16, 2026 (IssueWire.com) - Following the October 2025 release of his financial literacy guide, Don't Hide the Money Under the Mattress—which focuses on empowering the Hispanic community through foundational financial education—Julian Rodriguez, Principal of Julian Rodriguez & Associates, has announced the formal publication of his latest forensic study on the Social Science Research Network (SSRN).

This shift toward doctoral-level research marks a significant technical evolution for the firm, which has specialized in federal compliance and international fiscal diagnostics since 2006. The newly released research introduces the Systemic Intent Shadow (SIS) framework, a diagnostic tool designed to identify and substantiate "technical friction" within complex financial systems.

Unlike standard accounting practices, Rodriguez's methodology focuses on the forensic reconstruction of financial intent, particularly within the U.S.-Mexico corridor. This research serves as a cornerstone of his current trajectory as a Doctoral Researcher in Financial Policy and his ongoing work as an IRS Certifying Acceptance Agent.

"My 2025 book was a grassroots effort to educate the Hispanic community on budgeting and the complexities of the U.S. financial system—knowledge that is often not accessible in traditional settings," says Rodriguez. "This current research takes that mission into the technical realm. The goal is to move beyond simple compliance and into forensic substantiation to ensure the integrity of financial records for all stakeholders."

By integrating academic rigor with two decades of field experience, Julian Rodriguez & Associates is positioning itself at the intersection of financial policy and forensic practice. The firm continues to provide specialized diagnostics for professional entities, legal partners, and international stakeholders.
