

HEAT Interactive Launches Trivia Champions on Amazon Alexa and Fire TV

AI-Powered, Voice-First Trivia Game Brings Competitive, Social Gameplay to Smart Speakers and TVs

Los Angeles, California Jan 28, 2026 (IssueWire.com) - HEAT Interactive today announced the launch of Trivia Champions, a voice-first trivia game now available on Amazon Alexa and Fire TV. Designed for casual players, families, and groups, Trivia Champions turns smart speakers and televisions into interactive, game-show-style experiences controlled entirely by voice.

Trivia Champions allows players to jump into fast-paced trivia rounds across a wide range of categories, competing for ranks and bragging rights without the need for controllers, downloads, or additional hardware. Gameplay is accessible instantly using simple voice commands.

On Fire TV, Trivia Champions features on-screen visuals, live scoreboards, and a polished game-show presentation designed for living room play. On Alexa-enabled devices, the game delivers seamless, hands-free gameplay optimized for voice interaction.

“Voice and TV screens remain largely underutilized for interactive entertainment,” said Nardi Braho, Founder of HEAT Interactive. “With Trivia Champions, our goal was to make games instantly accessible. No downloads, no controllers — just say a phrase and you’re playing. Alexa and Fire TV provide the ideal platforms for that experience.”

Trivia Champions supports both solo and competitive play, making it suitable for households, watch parties, and social gatherings. The game is built specifically for voice-first interaction and shared screen environments, reflecting the growing adoption of smart speakers and connected TVs.

The launch represents HEAT Interactive's first major release as the studio focuses on developing a new generation of voice-native and TV-first games, expanding beyond traditional mobile and console platforms.
