

Lunchskins Launches Home Compostable Clear Food Wrap Nationwide at Sprouts Farmers Market

Lunchskins® announces the launch of its certified home compostable clear food wrap, now available at Sprouts Farmers Market locations nationwide and debuting at the KeHE Summer trade show February 4–5, Booth #1822.

Potomac, Maryland Feb 3, 2026 (Issuewire.com) - Made with compostable, plant-based materials designed to replace conventional plastic wrap, the eco-friendly cling wrap delivers a strong, tight cling that seals in freshness while offering gentle breathability to help reduce condensation and spoilage. Flexible, durable, and leak-resistant, it's ideal for covering bowls, wrapping produce, packing sandwiches, and storing leftovers at home or in commercial kitchens.

“At Lunchskins, we believe choosing sustainability shouldn’t mean sacrificing performance,” said Kirsten Quigley, Founder & CEO of Lunchskins®. “While compostable wraps aren’t new, we focused on getting the wrap right—delivering the cling, durability, and ease of use people expect from conventional plastic, but made from certified home-compostable, plant-based materials.”

The launch comes as retailers and consumers continue to seek alternatives to single-use plastics in everyday kitchen products.

Designed for ease of use, the wrap's packaging includes Roll-Lock Tabs on both sides of the box to keep the roll securely in place while dispensing, a Razor-Cut Edge for clean slicing, and a Reuse-Ready™ Tab that allows the wrap to be neatly tucked back into the box between uses. Perforated sheets provide consistent, pre-measured tearing for added convenience.

When finished, the wrap can be composted at home or in a commercial setting—ensuring that food stays fresh while keeping single-use plastic out of landfills.

Best for:

- Wrapping sandwiches, produce, and leftovers
- Keeping cut fruits and vegetables fresh
- Consumers seeking a high-performance, sustainable alternative to conventional plastic wrap

Now available at Sprouts Farmers Market stores near you.

Learn more about the product at:

<https://www.lunchskins.com/products/compostable-food-wrap>

About Lunchskins®

Lunchskins creates recyclable and compostable food-storage solutions designed to reduce waste without sacrificing performance.

Media Contact

PrMedia

@lunchskins.com

Source : Lunchskins

See on IssueWire