

New Release: Fixing America Offers Bold, Unconventional Solutions to America's Most Difficult Domestic and Foreign Policy Crises

MEMOIR/TRAVEL

Fixing America: Essays on Domestic and Foreign Policy offers original insights and pragmatic solutions regarding intransigent, and entrenched political perspectives which continually fail to correctly identify root causes of problems; and provides original, creative, practical and effective pragmatic and implementable processes – never before imagined, let alone attempted, by national and world leaders, to solve ten 'unresolvable' national and international issues.

Domestic issues include creative solutions to the January 6 Insurrection; US Supreme Court Injustice, Roman Catholic Church reproductive dogma, Homelessness, Overhauling Teacher Training in the US, and Immigration Policy.

Foreign Policy essays cover, fixing the US Middle East strategy and Solving the Palestinian - Israel Crisis.

This work intended for teachers, professors, students (college), honors students (high school), educated citizens who wish to be civically engaged, politicians and their aids at all levels of government, and the ruling intelligentsia on planet earth. If you like Noam Chomsky, Paul Krugman, David Brooks or Robert Reich, you will enjoy these essays. When finished, recommend the book to a friend – or you friendly neighborhood politician.

James Sawatzki, a Tacoma, WA educator of 38-years' experience, received the 2014 Governor's Award for Excellence in Teaching History, the 2014 Washington State Patricia Behring Teacher of the Year Award and the 2005 Gilder Lehrman Institute's Washington State American History Teacher of the Year award. Sawatzki is a founding board member of Washington State National History Day.

Mr. Sawatzki received his master's degree from the 'Great Books Program' at St. John's College, Annapolis, MD. Interdisciplinary education has been the defining characteristic of his career. His specialties are literature, political science, and philosophy which he integrates into a Humanities based curriculum. He is particularly adept at applying core concepts to current events.

Essays on Domestic and Foreign Policy

James Matthew Sawatzki

Weston-super-Mare, Somerset Jan 8, 2026 (IssueWire.com) - Books To Life Marketing proudly presents Fixing America: Essays on Domestic and Foreign Policy by award-winning educator and political thinker James Matthew Sawatzki—a concise yet powerful collection that challenges entrenched perspectives and proposes bold, actionable solutions for some of the nation's most persistent domestic and international crises.

In Fixing America, Sawatzki confronts ten of the most divisive and "unresolvable" issues facing the United States today. From the January 6 Insurrection to Supreme Court injustices, homelessness, teacher training, immigration policy, and beyond, he offers original insights rooted in interdisciplinary scholarship—moving past partisan rhetoric to identify the true roots of America's most complex problems.

The book also extends its clarity and courage to foreign affairs, presenting reimaged, pragmatic approaches to the U.S. Middle East strategy and a fresh pathway toward resolving the long-standing Palestinian-Israeli crisis.

Endorsed by renowned intellectual Noam Chomsky, who calls it "Interesting work," and reviewed by Professor Peter Grosvenor of Pacific Lutheran University, the collection is already resonating with readers seeking perspective, depth, and real-world applicability in a time of polarized politics.
