

New Single: Steve O'Reilly-"Silent Disco Alone" (ft. Brian Delaney of David Bowie's Lazarus, NY Dolls/Melissa Etheridge)

Steve O'Reilly taps Bowie/NY Dolls drummer Brian Delaney for "Silent Disco Alone." A gritty NYC anthem from the album ADAMANTIUM, it bridges rock's lineage with a cinematic, modern isolation. It ends with one haunting question: "What's killing you?"

LAZARUS & NY Dolls Drummer Brian Delaney for Atmospheric New Single "Silent Disco Alone"

Indie rock songwriter Steve O'Reilly has joined forces with legendary drummer Brian Delaney for his latest single, "Silent Disco Alone." Delaney, a mainstay of the New York rock scene, brings a storied pedigree to the track, having played on David Bowie's haunting final masterpiece "Lazarus", as well as touring and recording extensively with the New York Dolls and Melissa Etheridge.

"Silent Disco Alone" is a gritty, cinematic exploration of modern isolation. Driven by O'Reilly's evocative vocals and Delaney's unmistakable percussive weight, the track captures the feeling of being "lost in the crowd"—a theme that resonates deeply in a post-digital world.

"Having the drummer from Bowie's 'Lazarus' on this track changed everything," says O'Reilly. "Brian has this incredible ability to play with both immense power and a ghost-like touch. He didn't just provide a beat; he provided the soul of the song."

The collaboration highlights O'Reilly's evolution as a songwriter, moving into a more expansive, art-rock territory that honors his New York roots while looking forward. Recorded in New York's : Engine Sound Studios, and mixed by Producer Matt Anthony, the single serves as the lead preview for O'Reilly's upcoming ADAMANTIUM album.

"Silent Disco Alone" is available now on all streaming platforms, including Spotify, Apple Music, and Tidal.

About Steve O'Reilly: Steve O'Reilly is a veteran of the New York music scene, first rising to prominence as the frontman of Tammany Hall NYC before establishing a successful solo career and becoming a sought-after composer for NBC and HBO. Widely recognized for his acclaimed albums Sky Boxer and Leap Year, O'Reilly's work blends the grit of a seasoned performer with the atmospheric precision of a veteran television scorer. Now operating as a solo artist, his recent music explores the complexities of urban survival and modern connection, crafting emotionally resonant indie rock that mirrors the restless heartbeat of New York City.

About Brian Delaney: Brian Delaney is a world-class drummer and percussionist. His diverse career includes, a long-term tenure with the New York Dolls, and over a decade of work with Melissa Etheridge. He is widely regarded as one of the most versatile and expressive drummers in the industry today.

Media Contact

Engine Sound

*****@gmail.com

917-972-2362

330 West 38th suite 709

Source : Engine Sound

See on IssueWire