

Card One Expands Mobile & On-The-Go Payment Tools to Power the Modern Business

Plano, Texas Feb 10, 2026 (IssueWire.com) - Card One, a provider of payment gateway technology, mobile processing, and merchant services, announced an expansion of its mobile and on-the-go payment solutions, giving businesses more freedom to accept payments anytime, anywhere — without sacrificing security or reliability.

The expanded mobile platform allows merchants to accept credit and debit cards, contactless payments, and digital wallets such as Apple Pay and Google Pay using smartphones, tablets, and wireless terminals. The updates are designed to support today's increasingly mobile business environment, including field services, food trucks, delivery services, pop-up retailers, medical professionals, and remote sales teams.

"As commerce becomes more mobile, merchants need payment tools that move with them," said Alex Hemmat, Board member of Card One. "This expansion removes the barriers between businesses and their customers by making secure, professional payment acceptance possible wherever the sale happens — in a store, at a job site, or on the road."

Built for Speed, Security, and Simplicity

Card One's mobile payment platform combines enterprise-grade security with simple, user-friendly technology. Transactions are protected through advanced encryption and tokenization, ensuring sensitive card data is never exposed or stored on the device. Merchants can process payments, send receipts, and manage transactions in real time from a single, intuitive interface.

The expanded tools also integrate seamlessly with Card One's payment gateway and reporting systems, giving business owners a complete view of sales, refunds, and customer activity across all locations and devices.

Part of Card One's Ongoing Innovation Strategy

This expansion reflects Card One's ongoing investment in next-generation payment technology focused on flexibility, security, and revenue optimization. As digital wallets, contactless payments, and mobile commerce continue to grow, Card One remains committed to providing merchants with the tools they need to compete and scale.
