MUSIC THERAPY

Orlando, Florida Feb 18, 2026 (Issuewire.com) - Intellectual Property Bank (IPB) is presenting to music lovers an unforgettable experience with Thomas Fuller unveiling their latest project: Ear Spa: Music Therapy - Aesthetic of Sound; in an intimate evening of listening party music treatments.

These special events offer and introduce fans the opportunity to hear Neurophonic Sounds, a new education-based genre that's unique and authenticated - no computer, no software, no AI or no samples; music produced to meet these authentication standards.

"This theory (Neural resonance theory) suggests that music is powerful not just because we hear it, but because our brains and bodies become it," says Caroline Palmer, neuroscientist at McGill University in Canada. "That has big implications for therapy, education, and technology."

Attendees will enjoy an immersive atmosphere designed to feed the spirit, body and mind for a real festive time with the artist, his story, sound, lyrics and insider information about the songs and how Mr. Fuller's music is a reflection of his education system.

An artist without any musical training said: "I was trained by the research and development of my pedagogy which resulted in this genre of music produced without computer, software or AI, along with out intellectual properties allowing the creation of the world's first song bank."

In the words of Ionna McKenzie; a basketball player (professional international), innovator (researching glass sports courts) and Orlando Realtor; "It's my training music, my braining music and unique like a 6'3" female athlete."

"Music is a human energy life-form and at its core is about feelings;" said Lynn Morris, Higher Energy Intuitive (HEI); Naturopathy practitioner." Internet radio station, XXU4 IRS 69.8: Music Feeling Fueling Station; where 69.8 = 98.6 is the curating platform for his songs.

How to attend the Thomas Fuller's listening parties? New venues are being added: to sign up for tickets, location and dates will be posted visit: www.ipb3mx.com.
