

FlameOS Launches as a Sovereign AI Revenue Infrastructure Platform for Modern B2B Growth

B2B Growth Systems and FlameFunnels Introduce FlameOS, an Autonomous Infrastructure Layer Designed to Unify AI, Outbound, Funnel Architecture and Revenue Governance

Los Angeles, California Feb 19, 2026 (IssueWire.com) - B2B Growth Systems today announced the launch of FlameOS, a unified revenue infrastructure platform engineered to consolidate outbound execution, funnel architecture, CRM governance and performance analytics into a single operating layer under the Flame Systems brand.

FlameOS is built for B2B software, technology and professional service firms that require predictable growth without reliance on fragmented SaaS stacks or disconnected marketing tools.

The platform integrates:

- AI-driven outbound prospecting and sequencing
- Conversion-focused funnel architecture
- CRM-aligned sales governance
- Retargeting and demand systems
- Commercial analytics tied directly to pipeline and revenue velocity
- Traffic resilience and scalability protocols

Rather than functioning as another marketing tool, FlameOS operates as structural infrastructure. It aligns marketing, sales and operational data into a coordinated system designed to reduce revenue leakage, eliminate duplication and improve executive decision clarity.

Founder James Carby-Robinson states:

“Growth does not fail because companies lack tools. It fails because those tools operate in isolation. FlameOS was designed to unify execution, governance and analytics into a single accountable system tied directly to commercial outcomes.”

The platform extends the execution framework of FlameFunnels and the revenue governance methodology of B2B Growth Systems into a consolidated infrastructure environment under flame.systems.

Core design principles include:

- Governance-first AI integration
- Metrics anchored to financial performance
- Load resilience for high-traffic campaigns
- Defined executive ownership of growth systems
- Audit-ready analytics and workflow transparency

FlameOS positions AI as a structural multiplier embedded inside revenue operations rather than a surface-level automation layer.

The platform is now available to select B2B organizations seeking integrated, AI-enabled revenue infrastructure.
