Women's Dresses and Skirts: Flowy Freedom Meets Surf-Ready Fabrics

Kick off the collection with women's dresses and skirts that capture Encinitas' free-spirited essence. Amuse Society leads with their 2026 "Tidal Whisper" dresses—lightweight, crinkle-gauze numbers in sunset oranges and ocean blues, featuring adjustable straps and hidden pockets for your wax comb or keys. Pair one with sandals for a Moonlight Beach picnic, and you've nailed that effortless Encinitas vibe. Billabong ups the ante with "Reef Dancer" skirts, made from quick-dry stretch nylon that repels sand and water. These high-low hem flirts with the tide, ideal for twirling through Hansen Surf's aisles or hitting San Diego's summer festivals.

Roxy and Rhythm bring sustainable twists: Roxy's organic cotton dresses boast UPF 50+ protection, while Rhythm's tiered skirts incorporate recycled ocean plastic. Brixton's oversized shirtdress hybrids offer a tomboy edge, perfect for layering over bikinis. At Hansen Surf in Encinitas, these pieces aren't mass-market—they're handpicked for the woman who surfs Cardiff Reef by day and dines al fresco by night. Prices start at $68, blending affordability with premium quality that withstands chlorine, sun, and salty spray.

Women's Pants: Adventure-Proof Style for Coastal Explorers

For women tackling more than just waves, Hansen Surf's 2026 women's pants lineup shines. Jetty's "Wave Walker" cargos feature four-way stretch and roll-up hem, transitioning from Encinitas trail runs to surf checks. Vuori's performance joggers, in buttery-soft modal fabric, wick moisture faster than you can say "hang ten," making them a go-to for yoga on the bluff or paddle-outs at Tabletop. O'Neill pioneers with tech pants—water-repellent, articulated knees for unrestricted movement, in earthy tones that echo San Diego's rugged cliffs.

Patagonia and RVCA add eco-warrior cred: Patagonia's organic hemp blends prioritize planet-friendly pants, while RVCA's slim-fit chinos pack DWR coating for mist-proof adventures. These aren't dainty city slacks; they're built for Hansen Surf customers who hike Torrey Pines then hit the lineup. Expect inclusive sizing from XS to 3X, with prices from $78—value that outpaces big-box chains.

Women's Shirts and Tees: Breezy Layers with Edge

No surf wardrobe is complete without women's shirts and tees that layer like Encinitas fog rolls in. Volcom's graphic tees explode with 2026 motifs—think neon palm prints and wave abstracts—on heavyweight cotton that softens with every wash. Rip Curl elevates with long-sleeve button-ups in linen-rayon, UPF-rated for all-day sun protection during San Diego swells. Salty Crew delivers slubby knits, oversized for that lived-in look, while Vans offers cropped tanks for high-waisted shorts stacking.

L*Space adds feminine flair with off-shoulder shirts that double as cover-ups. These staples, starting at $28, embody Hansen Surf's commitment to versatile, durable pieces that fuel the active Encinitas lifestyle.

Women's Shorts: Cheeky, Comfy, and Collection-Standouts

Shorts steal the show in Hansen Surf's 2026 drop, tailored for women who demand cuteness without sacrificing mobility. Roxy's "Hyde Out" hybrids zip off into shorts, with stretch liners for swim-to-street ease. Volcom's denim-inspired cutoffs fray just right, while Brixton's boardshorts pack pockets deep enough for your phone during beach volleyball at Moonlight State Beach. Rhythm and Amuse Society collaborate on high-rise bike shorts in tropical prints, yoga-ready yet surf-tough.

The crown jewels? Bikinis and swimwear that dominate Hansen Surf's 2026 collection. L*Space rules with reversible triangles and cheeky bottoms in iridescent metallics—mix-and-match magic for endless looks. Billabong's "Pipeline Pro" sets feature bonded seams and power mesh for stay-put performance during San Diego's biggest waves. O'Neill's one-pieces sculpt with compression, while Roxy's string bikinis tie secure for aerials.
