

Housing Assistance Available for Whatcom County Residents Affected by Recent Flooding

Bellingham Realtor Tracie Gulit is helping spread awareness about the Realtors Relief Foundation, bringing aid to Washington flood victims.

REALTORS[®]
RELIEF
FOUNDATION

Bellingham, Washington Feb 26, 2026 (IssueWire.com) - In the wake of the devastating flooding that took place in western Washington in December, the Realtors Relief Foundation is donating thousands of dollars to victims across the state. These funds are available to any Washington resident, including many Whatcom County residents who were impacted. Local real estate broker Tracie Gulit is hoping to spread the word to many residents who might not be aware of their eligibility for assistance.

The foundation, operated by the National Association of Realtors, provides grants to individuals and families whose homes have been damaged or who have been displaced due to natural disasters, including flooding. Many Whatcom County residents may not realize the funding exists, or how they can qualify for support.

“When flooding happens, people are dealing with stress, cleanup, and uncertainty all at once,” Gulit said. “Most folks aren’t sitting around Googling relief funds — they’re just trying to get through the day. I wanted to share this because help is available, and people deserve to know about it.”

Residents of Whatcom County can learn more about eligibility requirements and application details by visiting the Realtors Relief Foundation website at warealtor.org/rrf-resources or contacting their local real estate expert for guidance.

About Tracie Gulit

Tracie Gulit is a Bellingham-based real estate broker serving Whatcom and Skagit Counties. She is known for her clear communication, hands-on approach, and involvement in the community, including local fundraisers and housing-related outreach.

FOR MEDIA INQUIRIES OR ADDITIONAL INFORMATION

Tracie Gulit
360-201-6433
TracieG@windermere.com
www.realestatewithtracie.com

Media Contact

Real Estate with Tracie

@windermere.com

Source : Real Estate with Tracie

See on IssueWire