Jose Jimenez: A Visionary Residential Property Manager Committed to Community and Excellence

Rockville, Maryland Feb 13, 2026 (IssueWire.com) - Jose Jimenez is a dedicated Residential Property Manager with Lerner Enterprises, headquartered in Rockville, Maryland, and based in Virginia. With a Bachelor's Degree in Film, Cinema, and Video Studies from George Mason University, Jose began his career in real estate as a leasing consultant. Within two years, he advanced to assistant property manager, and shortly thereafter, earned a promotion to property manager, where he takes pride in fostering collaboration, enthusiasm, and shared success within his team.

Specializing in residential property management, Jose oversees leasing professionals and maintenance teams across two communities: a 173-unit high-rise and a 506-unit garden-style residential property. He is passionate about building supportive, connected communities, organizing collaborative events, and cultivating meaningful relationships with residents—many of whom he knows by name—resulting in a resident retention rate exceeding 98%. Jose has also earned recognition for his professional achievements, including ratings over 800 on Reputation.com and the Best Income to Budget Award in a previous management role.

Jose's leadership extends beyond property management. Referred by his company's director, who serves on the AOBA board, he joined the Emerging Leaders Council, where he has contributed for more than two years. He values the learning and networking opportunities in this role.

Jose attributes his success to the inspiration and encouragement he received from his mentors, who taught him to think creatively, lead with intention, and support the growth of those around him. By helping his team thrive, he finds immense satisfaction in witnessing the accomplishments of others.

Outside of work, Jose is an avid movie enthusiast, enjoying critiquing films and appreciating their artistry. His creativity extends to painting with acrylics, and he expresses himself through singing and music, bringing the same dedication and passion to his artistic pursuits as he does to property management.

At Lerner Enterprises, Jose Jimenez is committed to creating thriving environments for both residents and team members, demonstrating that exceptional property management is not just about buildings, but about building communities.
