Margaret Rossoni: Licensed REALTOR® with Edge Realty Serving Narragansett and Surrounding Coastal Communities, as well as Northern Rhode Island and Massachusetts.

Narragansett, Rhode Island Feb 6, 2026 (IssueWire.com) - Margaret "Maggie" Rossoni, a Licensed REALTOR® with Edge Realty, is a trusted advocate for buyers and sellers throughout Rhode Island and Massachusetts, with a large focus on Narragansett, Rhode Island's highly sought-after coastal communities. Known for her detail-oriented, ethical, client-centered approach, Maggie is a trusted advocate for both buyers and sellers navigating residential and investment real estate.

Maggie guides her clients through every stage of the real estate transaction—from strategic pricing and negotiation to staging, contract execution, and closing—always prioritizing education, transparency, and her clients' long-term goals. Her ability to simplify complex decisions while maintaining a calm, professional presence has earned her a reputation for reliability and results.

Originally from Poland, Maggie has called Rhode Island home since childhood. Her deep roots in the region, paired with a broad professional background, provide her with a unique understanding of local neighborhoods, lifestyle-driven purchases, and investment opportunities across diverse markets. She holds an active real estate license in Rhode Island and Massachusetts, allowing her to seamlessly assist clients whose buying or selling needs cross state lines.

Before transitioning into real estate, Maggie built a successful career in healthcare. She earned her Doctorate of Pharmacy from the University of Rhode Island and spent years practicing as a pharmacist—an experience that demanded precision, ethics, and unwavering attention to detail. These same qualities now define her real estate practice. Raised in a family of entrepreneurs, Maggie began investing in real estate shortly after graduating and currently owns and manages multiple investment properties throughout Rhode Island.

“Helping people buy or sell a home is not unlike being a pharmacist,” says Maggie. “Like finding the right drug for a patient, finding the right house involves really getting to know your client, their needs and long-term goals, and educating them so they can make the most informed decision. Their best interest is always my main priority; it’s in my nature.”

Today, Maggie is a certified Resort and Second-Home Property Specialist (RSPS), an Accredited Buyer’s Representative (ABR), and an experienced real estate investor. Her firsthand knowledge as a property owner and manager allows her to provide practical, real-world insight to clients purchasing primary residences, second homes, or income-producing properties. With experience working across coastal, suburban, and investment-focused markets in both Rhode Island and Massachusetts, Maggie brings broad regional expertise backed by hands-on transaction experience.

Maggie approaches real estate with the same guiding principles that shaped her healthcare career: honesty, integrity, loyalty, and open communication. Her ability to build long-term relationships has led to a business driven largely by referrals, reflecting the confidence and trust her clients place in her expertise.

Maggie’s success is further rooted in her psychology-focused healthcare background, enabling her to listen closely, manage expectations, and guide clients through complex decisions with patience and care. She is known for consistent communication, thorough education, and connecting clients with reliable financial and investment professionals when needed.

When not advocating for her clients, Maggie enjoys spending quality time with her family, especially by the ocean. She and her husband, Eric, can often be found renovating and restoring older spaces together. Maggie also loves exploring new hiking trails with her children and dogs, traveling, playing tennis, hosting friends and family, and volunteering her time to support and enrich her local community.

Margaret “Maggie” Rossoni remains committed to serving Rhode Island and Massachusetts clients with knowledge, integrity, and dedication—helping them achieve their real estate goals with confidence and clarity.
